ATLANTA NAVAL UNIT EXAMINED BY BOARD

Reservists Here Seek To Recapture First Place Trophy Lost Last Year.

The Atlanta Naval Reserve battalion received its annual examination by a three-man navy inspection board from Washington last night in the Naval Reserve armory at Georgia Tech.

Atlanta reservists are fighting to recapture the trophy they lost last year to St. Paul, Minn., after holding the No. 1 rank in the country's naval reserve units for four years. The inspection and examination last night is said to exercise great weight in deciding the award.

The visiting board was headed by Captain R. W. Mathewson and includes Commander W. I. Causey and Lieutenant H. P. Eitel.

All phases of the battalion's training in the operation of a destroyer were included in the examination and a complete battle problem, built around a sham attack on an enemy ship, was worked out by the Atlanta reservists during the examination.

The Washington officers were entertained at dinner at the Atlanta Athletic Club by Lieutenant Harry F. Dobbs, commander of the battalion, prior to the inspection.

WEED GROWERS FAVOR VOLUNTARY CONTROL

Colquitt County Farmers Seek Pact To Curb Acreage This Year.

MOULTREE, Ga., March 18.—(P)—Colquitt county tobacco growers were on record as favoring a voluntary agreement to control tobacco production in Georgia this year through a cooperative association.

More than 150 growers tentatively approved the agreement here late yesterday and agreed to co-operate in a concerted drive to maintain prices through production control.

The proposed voluntary agreement becomes effective only after approval of two-thirds of the Georgia producers and on provision that other tobacco growing states control production of their growers this year.

The voluntary plan calls for 25 per cent reduction from base production and extends over a period of one year.

CONTROL PLANS SOUGHT IN CAROLINAS, VIRGINIA

RALEIGH, N. C., March 18.—(P)—North Carolina, largest flue-cured tobacco-producing state, went ahead today with plans for a voluntary acreage control program dependent upon the aid of Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia.

A "whirlwind" campaign to obtain the signatures of producers of 80 per cent of the 1935 crop to acreage reduction pledges will begin in every tobacco-growing county probably next week.

The goal, decided upon by a representative group of farm leaders who met with Governor Ehringhaus here yesterday, is to limit the 1936 crop to 70 per cent of the base acreage under the old AAA.

Governor Ehringhaus was authorized to contact Governor Peery of Virginia, and Governor Olin Johnson of South Carolina, and urge them to start similar sign-up campaigns in their states.

Dean I. O. Schaub, of the North Carolina State College Extension Service, said a sign-up campaign was started in Georgia, the other flue-cured tobacco-producing states, yesterday as the outgrowth of meetings last week.

At Richmond, Va., Governor Peery announced today he would call a conference of Virginia tobacco experts to study a voluntary control plan in co-operation with North Carolina.

FLORIDA GOVERNOR JOINS OUT APPEAL

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 18.—(P)—Governor Dave Sholtz today joined Governor Ehringhaus, of North Carolina, in an appeal to President Roosevelt to help growers of flue-cured tobacco curtail their production.

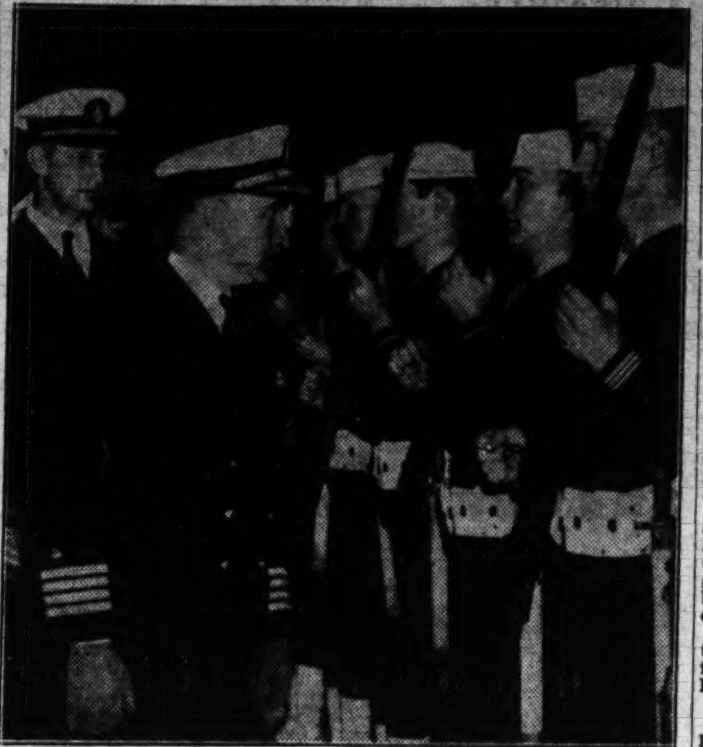

Governor Ehringhaus asked the President for an allocation of $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 to encourage planters in growing soil conservation crops in place of tobacco, and Governor Sholtz endorsed it.

Four Florida counties, Alachua, Madison, Hamilton and Suwannee produce about 2,000,000 pounds of flue-cured tobacco annually.

Present Situation Termed Crisis In Simmons' Letter to Governor

Stating that the 27 members of the senate signing the petition for a special session of the general assembly were not motivated by political ambition, Senator J. M. Simmons, of Bainbridge, yesterday made public a letter he handed the Governor along with the petition.

Senator Simmons referred to the present situation as a crisis and said that it touched the welfare of every citizen.

The letter of the senator follows: Governor Eugene Talmadge, Atlanta, Ga.

My Dear Governor: We are enclosing herewith a resolution, signed by a majority of state senators, requesting you to call an extra session of the legislature.

The senators signing this petition agree not to take up any other legislative matter, except the appropriation bill for the purpose of getting our state back to a normal condition. We are not trying to force you into calling an extra session, but we feel, as senators of the state of Georgia, that we have a responsibility upon us, and especially so when we have been accused of neglect of duty, when as a matter of fact, 45 senators had no part in the conference in which an appropriation bill was not passed.

The crisis which has developed in the affairs of the state of Georgia, touching, as it does the individual welfare of every single citizen, has become a fundamental issue in which the entire citizenry should take an active stand. The courts have decided that the government of Georgia cannot operate legally without legislative appropriations. This has resulted in bringing the operations of the state to a standstill. The state of Georgia must go on. Its institutions and functions must be carried on. There must be provided a legal channel through which these operations can be maintained.

You declare that the calling of a special session is not mandatory upon you, but is solely within your discretion. We believe that if you, as governor, are sincere in your love for this state, which has richly endowed you with her gifts, you will agree with us that the crisis which has developed upon you a mandatory obligation to issue the call that Georgia in its operations may again become sane and normal.

We are not actuated by any selfish, personal or political ambition. Our sole purpose and desire is to our state and to that end we are calling on all members of the executive and legislative branches, namely, the Governor, the senators and members of the house, to lay aside political factionalism, personal selfishness and ambitions and come together as loyal Georgians to harmoniously render a signal service to the state which we all love and which is crying for our help in her dire need.

Let us trust that there is no public servant from the highest to the lowest whose patriotism is so lacking, whose love of his commonwealth is so void, that his heart and conscience has shriveled into insignificance so that he will in such a crisis listen to the promptings of his own selfish greed and turn a deaf ear to the need of his commonwealth.

We stand squarely behind the principle that Georgia must enthroned upon the seat of sovereignty the constitution and laws which are the mandates of its people. We are offering every senator an opportunity to join with us in this unselfish service to the state and we ask the people of the senatorial districts to personally see your senator and find out whether he is willing to serve the state or demands for himself the right to serve his own selfish interests.

Yours very truly, J. M. SIMMONS, Senator Eighth District, Chairman of Committee.

comptroller general of the state of Georgia. Inasmuch as the banks are not honoring checks signed by either Daniel or G. B. Carreker, the comptroller, the Governor was believed to have little chance to get at the money immediately.

The Atlanta banks at present are holding $2,500,000 in state funds under direction of Fulton superior court. The order holding it is the one on which an appeal will be filed today.

An unexpected development came yesterday when it was learned that at least one and perhaps two or three members of the supreme court would disqualify themselves in the matter involving the Atlanta banks, thereby giving the Governor the opportunity to name superior court judges to fill out the bench. Under the law the Governor can name any superior court judge he desires to fill in on the higher courts for judges who have disqualified themselves. One justice of the court is expected to announce his disqualification because he owns a bank in Atlanta. He has refused to others disqualify themselves it will be for reasons as yet unknown.

Who will be named by the Governor is not known.

Simmons Presents Petition. The petition for the extra session was presented through Senator J. M. Simmons, of Bainbridge, a veteran member of the assembly and a former strong Talmadge supporter. Senator Simmons made public a letter he handed the Governor in which he said he and his colleagues were motivated only by a desire to be of service to the state.

The names of senators signing the petition follow: W. W. Larsen Jr., William A. Hart, Z. P. Almon, J. M. Simmons, C. R. Vaughn, George W. Dupree, John J. Jones, L. C. Ragsdale, H. Clark, Lamar C. Rucker, R. E. Cannon, G. Everett Millican, H. Dixon Smith, Frank A. Dennis, Allen Chapell, John W. Carrington, E. F. Turner, J. H. McGhee, Loren Cary, P. M. Lancaster, J. M. Strickland, Joe E. Johnston, E. R. King, David S. Atkinson, W. M. Goodwin, A. H. McLeod and Roy McGinty Jr.

A twenty-eighth senator was added to the petition yesterday when Senator J. S. Crawford, of Rome, announced that he had signed his signature to the list. Senator Crawford requested Senator Simmons to forward his signature to the Governor. The Governor charged, in his statement, that in 1933 Hamilton McWhorter, president of the senate, received a proposition to absent himself from the state when Talmadge also was outside of Georgia, so that Speaker E. D. Rivers, in line of succession, could come over and physically take charge of the Governor's office.

"Be it said to the credit of Hon. Hamilton McWhorter," Talmadge said, "that he absolutely refused to be a party to any such move of treason against the state government."

Talmadge further charged that during the last session of the general assembly, which failed to pass an appropriation bill leading to Talmadge's assumption of a financial dictatorship, that he was informed Speaker Rivers said at the time there was going to be an extra session of the legislature because the appropriation bill would be passed.

He said at the last conference committee on the appropriation bill the strict adjournment. Representative Roy Harris, of Augusta, floor leader in the house, informed a member of the senate that the house would stick by its contention that the appropriation bill and that the "senate committee might as well up their minds to that effect, and to take it all or leave it."

The Governor's statement continued: A speaker of the house and a floor leader by parliamentary tactics on the appropriation bill, the great majority of the house and senate are composed of upright, honest men, who have the welfare of the state of Georgia at heart. The great majority of these honorable bodies do not want a Governor's race conducted from the legislative halls.

"In an emergency, it is the duty of the chief executive to carry on the functions of the government by proclamation."

Whether the decision of the old companies to put in motion the Atlanta banks will result in new law suits could not be learned yesterday.

It is generally expected that the money market will be quiet until the supreme court has passed upon the decision of Judge E. D. Pomeroy and Virgil B. Moore, to which Judge John L. Humphries disagreed, holding that the courts can pass on the entire state situation and determine the legality of the removal of the comptroller.

The Governor is understood to have approximately $2,000,000 of claims paid on the 1936 highway certificates due counties. There is also several hundred thousand due the schools, which is being paid. Fulton county yesterday got $15,000 for the schools. Superintendent Jere A. Wells went to the capital and got the money in cash. Special Assistant Attorney General Samuel D. Hewlett notified Judge Humphries yesterday that the Daniel reply to the decision of the three-judge panel was not received until today. The judges are expected to sign the bill of exceptions and send the entire matter to the supreme court before the week is ended.

HARRIS SARCASTIC ABOUT TALMADGE CHARGE

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 18.—(P)—Upon being informed that Governor Talmadge had issued a statement today blaming him for having a part in the legislature's failure to pass an appropriation bill, Senator Roy W. Harris tonight said: "I wonder what happened to make 'Museum' Talmadge take on such a campaign to lay one little pee-wee legislator?"

TALMADGE SHOULD ADMIT ERROR, SAYS HAMILTON

EATONTON, Ga., March 18.—(P)—Spended State Treasurer George B. Hamilton expressed a wish today that Governor Talmadge were "man enough to admit that he is wrong."

National guardsmen ejected Hamilton from the state capital last month on Talmadge's orders.

"I wish that God would put a little love in the Governor's heart for the capital expressed a wish today that Governor Talmadge were 'man enough to admit that he is wrong.'"

State Senator Frank A. Dennis, a relative of Governor Talmadge, who manages the state capital, introduced Hamilton in the legislature as "the treasurer of the state of Georgia."

Dennis has been a leader in a movement to curtail the power of the legislature that Talmadge has refused to call.

Hamilton referred to his de facto successor, J. B. Daniel, as a "bogus treasurer."

The suspended official said Daniel had about $5,000,000 of the people's money in charge.

TWO WOMEN RELEASED IN GIDDENS SLAYING

NASHVILLE, Ga., March 18.—(P)—Fourteen-year-old Truby Giddens was back at her farm home near Ray City today after a grand jury decided not to return a charge for the slaying of her father on March 2.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Pearl Lee Giddens, also was released upon return of "not guilty" in her case. She was accused of plotting with her daughter to kill Ben Giddens.

The man was slain while asleep on the porch of his home. Sheriff O. J. Garner said at the time the girl admitted the shooting because "they were afraid of Giddens and he had been molesting them."

The sheriff said Truby and her mother "planned the whole thing," sending six younger children away from the home when the slaying occurred. Truby told authorities she had been to school only two days in her life.

The end of winter is a bad time for common, winter ill. That's when they affect you most and are hardest to get rid of.

One reason is that during the past months of rigorous weather, of hard work, of too little exercise and sunshine, you've probably been using up your reserve forces. At the season's end, your general resistance may be low.

But that doesn't mean you must resign yourself to the discomfort of winter ill. Do all you can right away to build up your general resistance. Start with ADEX.

From ADEX you will get plenty of Vitamin A, which contributes to good general resistance. You will also get extra Vitamin D to help make up for lack of sunshine at this season.

Each ADEX capsule contains not less than 6,600 units of natural Vitamin A, 1,320 units of natural Vitamin D. And Squibb prepares ADEX by methods which keep this high vitamin content from deteriorating.

Taken every day, ADEX will help protect you against winter ill.

BUSINESS WOMEN HEAR MISS EMILY WOODWARD

Former Georgia Press Association Head Urges Study of Political Candidates.

A challenge to business and professional women of America to work for the election of qualified candidates to public office was voiced last night by Miss Emily Woodward, former president of the Georgia Press Association, at a banquet of the Atlanta Business and Professional Women's Club at the Capital City Club.

To elect qualified candidates who can and will direct their offices efficiently and to the best interests of the majority of people in the duty of every woman in the field of business or professional work, Miss Woodward declared.

Miss Woodward was welcomed to Atlanta by Mayor Key, and was introduced by John Paschall, Atlanta newspaperman. She was welcomed on behalf of the club members by Miss Ellen Douglass, chairman of the National Business Women's Week committee.

The banquet was a climax to the observance of National Business Women's Week by the Atlanta club. Mrs. Flora S. Osburn, president of the local group, presided over the meeting.

Mrs. Grace Lee Townsend, musical director, presented in a recital Miss Mary Douglas, violinist; Miss Louise Brown, violin and flute; Mrs. Mildred Brown Bourne, cello, and Mrs. Adams Stokes, piano.

The regular Thursday night meeting will be held at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow night. Miss Lila Ellis, current literature lecturer, will talk on "The Constitution of the United States," as related to the National Business Women's Week theme, "Effective Democracy."

1608 Boulevard, N. E., injured in a head-on collision between the car he was driving and a street car at Peachtree street and Auburn avenue early yesterday morning, remained serious at Grady hospital last night, according to attaches.

Butcher and two companions were hurt when they crashed into a trolley car operated by R. D. Walton, of College Park, who escaped with cuts about the face. Police who saw the accident said Butcher's car swerved to the left side of the road before hitting the trolley.

Claude T. Calloway, 6 years old, of Conley Ga., was also in a serious condition from injuries suffered in a smash-up Tuesday night in Conley. Grady hospital officials said he had a possible fracture of the skull, a fractured leg and lacerations of the face and scalp.

$1,500,000,000 ASKED FOR RELIEF PROGRAM demoralization of the federal relief work by spolia politics, incompetence, waste and futile boondoggling cannot be ignored longer by the congress.

Democrats in Line. From other republican sources came cries of "politics" and "fraud." Some democrats said they thought the amount was too large, but generally they pledged their support to push it through congress.

Soon after the message was read, Senator Holt, democrat, West Virginia, arose in the senate and demanded a "thorough and searching" investigation of the Works Progress Administration.

He reiterated charges that "politics" control the WPA administration in West Virginia and asserted that if Henry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, "is as honest as he says he is and has any respect for the integrity" of the federal government, he could not oppose a senatorial inquiry.

Again attacking Hopkins personally, the youthful West Virginian said he "knew WPA was rotten and corrupt" in his state, but that since Hopkins reported the state WPA administration to be "lily white," he was doubtful of conditions in other states.

He added that if Hopkins swore to what was contained in his report on West Virginia, "he could be convicted of perjury."

No Politics, Says Hopkins. Hopkins during the day wrote all state administrators today that "no person shall be employed or discharged on the ground of his support or non-support of any political organization." He added that no WPA worker was required to make any political contributions and that any employee who solicited such contributions would be immediately discharged.

In his long-awaited message, President Roosevelt asserted that at least 5,000,000 more persons were at work last December than in March, 1935. He added:

"The trend of re-employment is upward. But this trend, at its present rate of progress, is inadequate. I propose, therefore, that we ask private business to extend its operations to absorb an increasing number of unemployed."

At the same time Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews, acting secretary, officially expressed the navy high command's hope of increasing naval enlisted strength to 100,000 men within the next 15 months to assure the proper manning of new ships.

Two aircraft carriers, one heavy cruiser, three light cruisers, three submarines and nine destroyers are scheduled to slide down the ways at various navy and private ship building yards this year.

The navy's budget contemplates laying the keels of six new submarines and 12 destroyers in the fiscal year 1937, beginning July 1.

HOSPITAL ALCOHOL USED FOR COCKTAILS. A new use for alcohol allegedly stolen from a hospital here was discovered by police yesterday when they arrested Rufus Merritt, 27, a negro of an Irwin street address.

Merritt, according to police, has been serving "mixed drinks" to negro customers in the Irwin street location. Found in his apartment were two gallons of alcohol, which he admitted having taken from the Georgia Baptist hospital, where he is an attendant.

Also discovered were different kinds of flavoring extracts and numerous hospital articles he denied having stolen from the hospital. Merritt was held without bond pending a further investigation.

WANTS SMART-LOOKING CAR BUT REFUSES TO WASTE MONEY

Selects big, new Dodge "Beauty Winner" for economy, luxury, and style

There are thousands of people in America today who, like Ginger Rogers, can afford a much more expensive car, but who—also like Miss Rogers—say: "Why should I buy one, when the new Dodge offers such unusual beauty and economy?"

Just one look at the big, new, Money-Saving Dodge and you'll understand why it has been hailed as the most beautiful car in Dodge history. And as for economy, owners everywhere say Dodge gives them amazingly high gas and oil mileage.

But the Dodge "Beauty Winner" gives you far more than beauty and economy. See this new car today. See for yourself how many more extra-value features Dodge—at new, low prices (only $640 and up, list prices at factory, Detroit)—now gives you for only a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars.

Text of Roosevelt's Message Outlining New Relief Program

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP) The text of President Roosevelt's message on the new relief program delivered to the congress of the United States:

In my budget message of January 3, 1936, I reserved making a recommendation for an appropriation for the relief of unemployment, stating that an estimate and recommendation could be better made at a later date. I am now prepared to submit such a recommendation, and this message should be regarded as supplemental to the budget message.

In asking the congress for an appropriation to meet the needs of the destitute unemployed during the coming fiscal year, certain facts should be clearly set forth.

(1) Since the spring of 1933 there has been a gain in re-employment in each successive year. At least 5,000,000 more people were at work in December, 1935, than in March, 1933. (2) In spite of these great gains, there are at present approximately 5,300,000 families and unattached persons who are in need of some form of public assistance—3,800,000 families and unattached persons on the works program and 1,500,000 on local and state relief rolls. Every thinking person knows that this problem of unemployment is the most difficult one before the country.

DO NOT INCLUDE ALL SEEKING WORK. These figures, large as they are, do not of course include all those who seek work in the United States. In none of these figures is included the many unemployed who are not on relief but who are experiencing great difficulties in maintaining their families. Neither are there included many others not on the relief rolls who are content with occasional employment; nor some who are constituted that they do not desire to work; nor many young people who cannot get work and are obliged to share the livelihood earned by their parents. Because of the impossibility of an exact definition of what constitutes unemployment, no figures which purport to estimate the total unemployed in the nation can be even approximately accurate.

(4) Nearly all the 1,500,000 unemployed families or unemployable persons are being cared for almost wholly from state or local funds. A very small number of these families or individuals have begun to receive a comparatively small amount of federal aid under the provisions of the social security act.

The foregoing figures indicate the problem before us. It is a problem to be faced not merely by the congress and the executive, but by the representatives of government in the states and localities, but by all of the American people. It is not exclusively the problem of the poor and the unfortunate themselves. It is more particularly the problem of those who have been more fortunate under our system of government and our economy.

LOCAL RESOURCES FREELY DRAWN UPON. It will not do to say that these needy unemployed must or should shift for themselves. It will not be good for any of us to take that attitude. Neither will it do to say that it is a problem for the states and the localities. If we concede that it is primarily the duty of each locality to care for its unemployed, and that if its resources are inadequate, it must then turn to the state for help, we must still face the fact that the states and local resources are local governments and states have been freely drawn upon in the last few years and they have not been sufficient.

It has been said by persons ignorant or careless of the truth that federal relief measures have encouraged states, counties and municipalities to shirk their duty and shift their financial responsibilities to the federal government. The fact is that during 1935 state and local governments spent $468,000,000 for emergency relief, which was 13 per cent of their total expenditures.

Asks $1,500,000,000 WPA APPROPRIATION. I am asking only for an appropriation of $1,500,000,000 to the Works Progress Administration. It will be their responsibility to provide work for the destitute unemployed. This request together with those previously submitted to the congress to provide for the Civilian Conservation Corps and certain public works will, if acted upon favorably by the congress, give security during the next fiscal year to those most in need, on condition, however, that private employers hire many of those now on relief rolls.

The trend of re-employment is upward. But this trend, at its present rate of progress, is inadequate. I propose, therefore, that we ask private business to extend its operations to absorb an increasing number of the unemployed.

Frankly, there is little evidence that large and small employers by individual and unco-ordinated action can absorb large numbers of new employees. A vigorous effort on a national scale is necessary by voluntary, concerted action of private industry.

Under the National Recovery Administration, the nation learned the value of shorter hours in their application to a whole industry. In almost every case, the shorter hours were approved by the great majority of individual operators within the industry. To the federal government was given the task of policing against the minority who came to be known as "chiselers." It was clear that "chiseling" by a few would undermine and eventually destroy the large, honest majority. But the public authority to require the shorter hours agreed upon has been seriously curtailed by limitations recently imposed by the supreme court upon federal as well as state powers.

LAW INTENDED TO BAN RESTRAINT OF TRADE. Nevertheless, while the provisions of the anti-trust laws, intended to prohibit restraint of trade, must and shall be fully and vigorously enforced, there is nothing in these or any other laws which would prohibit managers of private business from working together to increase production and employment. Such efforts would indeed be the direct opposite of a conspiracy in restraint of trade.

Many private employers believe that if left to themselves they can accomplish the objective we all seek. We have learned the difficulties of attempting to reduce hours of work in all trades and industries to a common level or to increase all wage payments at a uniform rate. But in any single industry we have found that it is possible by united action to shorten hours, increase employment, and, at the same time, maintain weekly, monthly or yearly earnings of the individual. It is my belief that if the leaders in each industry will organize a common effort to increase employment within that industry, employment will increase substantially.

In so far as their efforts are successful, the cost to the federal government of caring for the destitute unemployed will be lessened, and, if the employment gains are substantial enough, no additional appropriation by the next congress for the fiscal year 1937 will be necessary.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE TO DETERMINE COST. The ultimate cost of the federal works program will thus be determined by private enterprise. Federal assistance which arose as a result of industrial disemployment can be terminated if industry itself removes the underlying conditions. Should industry co-operatively achieve the goal of re-employment, the appropriation of $1,500,000,000, together with the unexpended balances to carry appropriations, will suffice to carry the federal works program through the fiscal year 1937. Only if industry fails to reduce substantially the number of these new out of work will another appropriation and further plans and policies be necessary.

It is the task of industry to make further efforts toward increased output and employment; and I urged industry to accept this responsibility. I present this problem and this opportunity definitely to the managers of private business; and I offer in aid of its solution the co-operation of all the appropriate departments and agencies of the federal government.

My appeal is to the thinking men who are assured of their daily bread.

However we may divide along the lines of economic or political faith, all right-minded Americans have a common stake in extending production, in increasing employment, and in getting away from the burdens of relief.

Those who believe that government may be compelled to assume greater responsibilities in the operation of our industrial system can make no valid objection to a renewed effort on the part of private enterprise to insure a livelihood to all willing workers. Those, on the other hand, who believe in complete freedom of private control without any government participation should earnestly undertake to demonstrate their effectiveness by increasing employment.

$20,000 Increase in Funds Voted By Directors of Community Chest

Bigger Appropriations Recommended by Budget Committee After Intensive Study for All Fields of Service Covered by Various Agencies.

Increases of $20,107 to expand the work of meeting human needs in Atlanta for 1935 were voted yesterday by the board of directors of the Community Chest.

These increases were recommended by the budget committee, which has been studying the work of the member agencies for weeks, under the leadership of T. G. Woolford, chairman.

In addition to voting these increases, the board created a special committee to launch a continuous study and social audit of community welfare needs.

and to co-ordinate community resources to meet them.

Members of the committee are Dr. Herman L. Turner, chairman; T. G. Woolford, C. L. Emerson, C. A. Rauchenberg, Mrs. S. F. Boykin, Oliver Healey and Julian V. Boehm, president of the Chest and ex-officio members.

The increases voted member agencies of the Chest for the year were more than double the increase in the amount raised in the recent campaign over the previous year. The additional amounts resulted from increased efficiency in the operation of the Chest. More money was made available in every field of service covered by Chest agencies.

In the agencies providing service and care for transients and homeless, the increase was $16,938 over last year, raising the total to $149,355. Eight agencies serve this field.

In the field of child care, the total budget set up was $48,616, an increase of $350.

In making these appropriations to 11 agencies which serve needy and dependent children in the Atlanta area, the board adopted recommendations of the budget committee for a thorough study of the community services to children.

These recommendations provide for "a thoroughgoing study of the needs for organized protective service for children, and the prevention of delinquency among them, and also for the purpose of recommending the additional organized means and methods of meeting our community needs in this respect."

Health Work Increased.

Institutions serving the handicapped and dealing with health work were given increases from $18,880 to $19,882.

In dealing with these agencies, the board adopted recommendations of the budget committee seeking general improvement of all agencies dealing with the handicapped for a co-ordinated program for the aid of these persons who do not fit into the requirements of modern industry.

In setting up a budget of $42,000 for youth guidance and character building agencies, an increase of $3,500 over last year, the board adopted recommendations of the budget committee to devote their enlarged activity to underprivileged children.

To establish the needs for additional work among youth, the board said the special survey committee to make a careful study of this field.

Woolford said the committee in all its study set aside by the needs to be met and the money available to meet them.

"The committee thought in all its studies in terms of how far the dollars would go toward meeting the real human needs," he said.

"In recommending the continuing survey of the work of the Chest agencies in the whole field covered, the committee believes this will provide a constant picture of the real needs of the community, so that an adequate fund can be raised to meet them."

Sparkling Songstress Greets Welcomers

Grace Moore To Take French Leave From Movies, She Announces Here

By MOZELLE HORTON YOUNG.

Grace Moore, glamorous star of opera, concert, radio and screen, arrived in Atlanta yesterday noon fresh from a triumph in New Orleans the night before that has surpassed in that city only by the last concert Caruso sang there. Miss Moore will bring a brilliant climax to this season's All-Star Concert Series with a concert at the Fox theater tonight at 8:30 o'clock, for which event the S. R. O. sign has been hanging for some time.

Miss Moore was stylishly dressed in a tailored spring suit, a gray suit worn with a navy blouse and a rose-red little hat with a navy veil. She carried a handsome fur coat on her arm. She made a striking figure, with her blonde loveliness and friendly smile as she stepped off the train. She spoke afterwards of being happy to be here because this is near her Tennessee childhood home, and her mother and father and a host of Tennessee friends will be here tonight for her concert.

That Movie Question?

Of course, the first question we asked her, in true reporter fashion, was "Is it true that you are not going to make any more movies?"

She smiled, and explained: "No, it is not true, and many of the stories that have been published have little truth in them. In Hollywood they call me 'temperamental,' while as a matter of fact I am not temperamental, but am merely a human being with enough Irish in me to stand up for my own rights and not allow them to make a machine out of me."

"I asked for a vacation, and because I am a box-office attraction they refused it at this time. But I intend to take a vacation, for under the strain of picture-making neither my voice nor my health would hold up should I be foolish enough to work so continuously as they want me to. If my producers will agree to the vacation then I shall resume my contract with them in the fall."

Going to France.

Miss Moore will spend the summer at her home on the Riviera, in France, where she and her husband, who is accompanying her on this tour, will live for a few months. While abroad Miss Moore will sing a few concerts in Norway and Sweden, and in London, at Albert Hall, the latter concert having been entirely sold out eight months ago.

Marcel Hubert, young violinist who has attracted the musical world lately with his art, will assist Miss Moore on the program this evening. Miss Moore is only giving eight concerts in America this season.

Rudy Stricken From 'Scandals' Cast After Fistic Brawl With Producer

Vallee Fired After Back-Stage Fight With George White; Nose of Crooning Maestro Reported Mangled; Wage Cut Threat Starts Row.

NEW YORK, March 13.—(AP)—Rudy Vallee was out of the cast of the "Scandals" tonight after a back stage fight with its producer, George White, over a proposal to slash salaries.

The slap-bang contest between the crooner and producer last night, after the regular show, was strictly a no-decision bout watched by starry-eyed chorines and others of the cast of 200. Versions agreed that Vallee called White a something or other and that the two tangled, White landing about five blows to Rudy's nose. Some said Rudy's recently rebuffed nose was mangled, but this was indignantly denied by Hyman Bushel, Vallee's attorney.

Bushel said Vallee was willing to take his usual singing role this afternoon, but was refused admittance to the stage by White. Later, Bushel said, White "never showed up" at an equity meeting designed to launch arbitration proceedings on Rudy's contract.

Nat Dorfman, White's publicity man, said the producer told the players at a cast meeting that they would all have to take a 25 per cent pay cut if the show were to avoid closing. All accepted except Vallee, who used hard words and gave the producer a shove, Dorfman said. Vallee weighs about 145, White about 130, retainers of the two camps estimated.

"Lisa," was Bushel's comment on the statement that White had proposed merely a general salary cut. "He wanted Rudy and some others to tear up their contracts," he declared. "Why, Rudy took a big cut from his usual pay when he went into that show."

Nobody seemed sure about a rumor that Vallee had swung first—and missed. But several persons agreed thoroughly that when White swung, he didn't miss.

It wasn't Vallee's first publicized matter of fisticuffs.

In Atlantic City last year he punched a penny tapper at a variety show. In February, 1933, he lashed out at a lawyer representing his former wife, Fay Webb Vallee, in supreme court, and missed.

WOMAN IS CONVICTED IN 'BABY DOLL' TRIAL

DORCHESTER, N. B., March 13.—(AP)—Mrs. May Bannister was convicted by a jury tonight of harboring the infant daughter of Philip Lake who kidnapped the baby. She was acquitted on two other charges.

Mrs. Bannister is the second of her family to be convicted in the "doll baby" murder-kidnap case in which Philip Lake, Pacific Junction squatter, his common-law wife and her son died in the abduction of Lake's six-month-old daughter, Betty.

The prosecution charged that the Bannisters seized the Lake baby to provide Mrs. Bannister with a child so she could place two of her men friends under "moral obligation" to her.

Before the abduction Mrs. Bannister used a life-size blue-eyed doll baby to deceive her male acquaintances, the crown charged, and introduced the doll into evidence.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS.

WIDOW OF MDIVANI TO RECEIVE $750,000

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—(AP)—The Examiner says the will of Prince Serge Mdivani, killed in a Florida polo accident last Sunday, disposes of a $1,500,000 estate, one-half of which is left to his widow, the former Louise Van Allen.

The remaining half, the newspaper says, is divided equally between his two sisters, Princess Ina Mdivani Hubert, wife of a London lawyer, and Princess Roussadana Mdivani Bert, wife of a Spanish artist, and his only surviving brother, Prince David Mdivani.

The Examiner says the will was drawn in Los Angeles last August, six months before Prince Serge's marriage to Miss Van Allen.

A LIGHT SMOKE OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Luckies are less acid. For hundreds of years, tobaccos were selected—and gradations in flavor secured—by the roughest sort of rule of thumb methods. Hence, one of the most important innovations made by the Research Department was provision for chemical analysis of selected tobacco samples before purchase:

the resulting reports offer the professional buyer an accurate guide and reinforce his expert judgment based on the senses of sight, smell, and touch. Thus extreme variations toward acidity or alkalinity are precluded by such selection and subsequent blending.

Georgia Manufacturers' Association Concludes 18th Annual Session Here.

W. E. Crossfield, of Griffin, was elected president of the Georgia Manufacturers' Association at the closing session of its 18th annual convention here yesterday.

Other officers elected were E. L. Gunn Jr., of Atlanta, vice president, and Wilshire Miller, of Atlanta, secretary-treasurer. Alva Nelson, of Thomaston, was named a member of the board of directors, of which C. B. Romberg, of Gainesville, the retiring president, will become chairman.

The business meeting yesterday brought to a close the two-day convention, which was occupied largely with consideration of problems pertinent to the ice manufacturing industry.

TILLER PROTESTS REDUCTION BY WPA

Welfare Board Head Maintains Fulton Cannot Care for New Cases.

Protests have been sent to Georgia's senators and representatives at Washington against the Works Progress Administration plan to cut off 1,900 workers in Fulton county March 31, it was announced yesterday by J. Sid Tiller, chairman of the Fulton county board of public welfare.

"We do not have the money to care for any more cases," explained Tiller. "As a matter of fact, we shall be forced ourselves to cut off some people who need relief, because our appropriation will be reduced on April 3."

The Georgia WPA announced its plans to cut off 8,000 persons in the state by April 15, but said that these would be released to private employment; that each case would be considered individually and that no one would suffer who had no other means of employment.

FHA CONTINUANCE OF AID PREDICTED

Construction of New Homes Helps Many Industries, Says Executive.

That the federal housing program will be continued on its present comprehensive scale was predicted yesterday by C. C. Rutherford, of Knoxville, vice president of the National Retail Furniture Association, who was here for a brief visit.

"The widespread construction of new homes undoubtedly is improving the economic conditions of many sections of the country," he declared. "I notice people commenting upon that fact in my travels about the country. I believe it will be continued."

Mr. Rutherford is touring the southeast, conferring with officials of furniture stores. He left last night for Macon.

He predicted that 1936 will be the best year since 1929 for the furniture industry.

Furniture dealers, he said, are noticing a marked increase in sales thus far from 1935 in comparison with the corresponding period of last year. He said he attributed this increase largely to the widespread construction of new homes and to the fact that many persons are moving into homes given up during depression years.

MONCRIEF Air CONDITIONING

With a Moncrief Air Conditioning System in your home you are assured of complete comfort the year round. The four factors necessary to comfort and health—temperature, humidity, cleanliness and air circulation are constantly maintained.

This modern system automatically heats, moistens and circulates the air to all parts of the house during the winter and in summer you enjoy a delightful and refreshing movement of clean, invigorating air. Moncrief air-conditioning systems protect the health as well as the comfort of your family by filtering from the air dust, dirt, pollen and bacteria. GRAND JURY NAMES 15 SUBCOMMITTEES Investigations Will Start on Friday After Completion of Routine Work.

Fifteen subcommittees to conduct an investigation of several city departments and every phase of county affairs were appointed yesterday by Foreman B. A. Agnew as the Fulton grand jury met in special session preparatory to launching its required probe of county government.

Although the committees will investigate each department, it was understood that the grand jury as a whole will hear the testimony of a number of department heads, including the five members of the board of county commissioners.

The grand jury is to meet again Friday and following completion of routine business, the subcommittees will begin their investigations, it was said.

It was known that special committees to probe the city police department, the city board of education, Grady hospital, and Battle Hill sanitarium were appointed in addition to the customary committees on the various county departments.

Foreman Agnew did not reveal the names of the committee members.

Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Plant-Up Week Set by Mayor Key To Start April 6

Mayor Key yesterday declared war on dirt, drabness, disease, unsanitary and outmoded housing, fire hazards and rubbish and called on Atlantans to aid him.

The occasion was the annual proclamation issued for a clean-up, paint-up, plant-up, build-up campaign, and the mayor was enthusiastic over anticipated results. The campaign will be from April 6-11.

Mrs. Robert F. Adamson, president of the woman's division of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and Miss Key Swearingen, chairman of the publicity committee for the drive, conferred with the mayor during the morning, and he followed the conference by issuing the proclamation immediately afterward.

Mrs. Robert L. Cooney, general director of the Atlanta Dogwood Festival, celebration of which will begin April 19, praised the undertaking.

"I wish to thank the woman's division of the Chamber of Commerce for its civic interest," she said. "There will be thousands of visitors to Atlanta during the Dogwood Festival, and it will be a fine thing to be able to welcome them to a clean city. The plant-up idea also is fine."

Text of Key's proclamation follows: Whereas, the annual clean-up, paint-up, plant-up, build-up campaign has resulted in many advantages to community life;

Whereas, it has proved its merit in bringing to civic consciousness the value of safeguarding health through cleanliness, of furthering fire prevention by lessening fire hazards, of stimulating civic pride in our community, of making the home and city beautiful by painting, repairing, redecorating and gardening; of promoting prosperity and thrift by attracting business and of beautifying through up-to-date housing and modernization;

Whereas, plans have been perfected for a thorough clean-up, paint-up, plant-up, build-up campaign, sponsored by the woman's division of the Chamber of Commerce, the date having been fixed for the week beginning

April 6 and lasting through April 11 for an intensive drive against dirt, drabness, disease, unsanitary and outmoded housing, fire hazards and rubbish;

Whereas, every organization is under obligation and every individual is bound by civic and personal duty to assist the clean-up, paint-up, build-up campaign effort;

Therefore, I, James L. Key, mayor, do proclaim the week of April 6-11 a campaign of persistent and constructive effort in cleaning, painting, planting, repairing, redecorating, rebuilding and modernizing and keeping it up. In this worthy movement of general rehabilitation and beautification, we urge each citizen to do his part to make the community clean, healthy, thrifty, safe, modern and beautiful. Given under my hand this March 18, 1936.

WILLIAM P. WALTHALL, REALTOR, PASSES HERE

Funeral Services To Be Held at 11 O'Clock This Morning.

William P. Walthall, prominent Atlanta realtor and widely-known resident of the city, died Tuesday night at a private hospital following an illness of several weeks.

Final rites will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Peachtree Chapel, 860 Peachtree street, with Dean Raimundo de Orles officiating.

Mr. Walthall was a member of Georgia Tech's first graduating class, being one of the first students to enroll at the school.

Born in Palmetto in 1872, he came to Atlanta to attend Georgia Tech and has since that time been a resident of the city. Following his graduation he went into business here and in 1898 became affiliated with the firm of Forrest & George Adams.

At the time of his death he was sales manager of the Adams-Cates Company. The firm will be closed today in tribute to Mr. Walthall and to permit his associates in the firm to attend the funeral.

Mr. Walthall was an active member of the Atlanta Real Estate Board and was past vice president of the board.

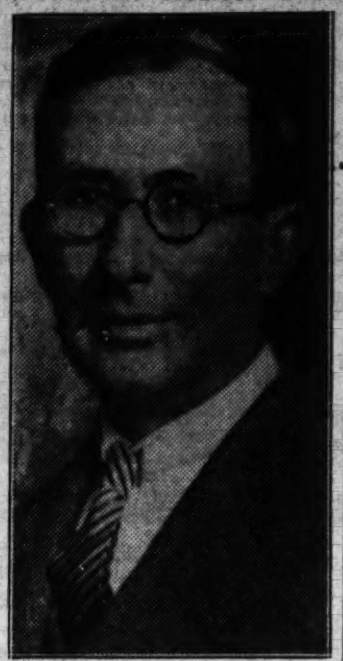

He was a member of the Alpha Tau Omega and the Phi Kappa Phi fraternities.

Mr. Walthall was a first cousin of Henry B. Walthall, whose portrayal of the role of the "Little Colonel" in the famous picture, "The Birth of a Nation," won him wide acclaim.

Surviving are a son, Edmond Walthall; two daughters, Mrs. Alan Ford and Miss Nell Walthall, of Atlanta; three sisters, Mrs. A. N. Brittain, of Palmetto; Mrs. L. W. Gibbs, of Atlanta, and Mrs. E. P. Thornton, of Palmetto, and a brother, Edgar Walthall, of New York.

Burial will be in West View cemetery, with Brandon-Bond-Condor in charge.

Prominent Realtor Dies

WILLIAM P. WALTHALL.

THOMAS A. BARNEY, 39, PASSES AT HOSPITAL

Thomas A. Barney, 39, of 784 Boulevard, N. E., died last night at Base Hospital No. 48. He had been in ill health for several years.

Mr. Barney was born in Boston and received his early education in that city. He served in the A. E. F. during the World War, and at his close entered the University of Georgia, where he was graduated in 1927.

He was formerly connected with the state entomology department.

Surviving are his wife, two sons, Robert Edward Browne and Worth Yankin Browne, a daughter, Miss Catherine Virginia Browne, all of Atlanta, and a brother, Frank Barney, of Boston. Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

MISS MATTIE M'GRIFF PASSES AT RESIDENCE

Miss Mattie McGriff, a charter member of the Center Hill Baptist church and a native of Atlanta, died yesterday morning at her home, 10 North Eugene place.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. C. D. Thompson; a brother, Mr. H. McGriff, of Montgomery, Ala.; and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Center Hill Baptist church, with the Rev. R. D. Walker officiating. Burial will be in Hollywood cemetery.

Use of Modern Tools To Feature Constitution Spring Garden School

Garden tools and golf clubs have a lot in common and the woman who scoffs at her husband for carrying a bag loaded with an assortment of golf sticks should make a thoughtful comparison with a garden hose or basement well-stocked with useful garden tools, according to Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown, noted horticulturist of Decatur, who will conduct The Constitution's Spring Garden School March 24-26.

Mrs. Crown will reveal many useful and labor-saving innovations in the form of garden accessories during her three-day lecture and demonstration from 10 to 11:30 o'clock each morning during the garden school, which will be held at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

One of the little spading tools, in fact, is so much like a golf club that a husband is likely to start to make a mashie shot some fine morning and discover he has brought along his favorite implement for digging around small plants and turning the soil in his rock garden, says Mrs. Crown.

The golf club-garden hose has a nice long handle with a steel "finger" on the end, making it easy to manipulate and invaluable in saving hands and back.

Manufacturers are beginning to realize that gardeners do not take a great pleasure in contracting a stiff back and sore muscles while working their flower beds, Mrs. Crown declared. "So the newest garden tools are constructed with an eye to saving all this pain and trouble."

Another implement is described by the horticulturist as something like an overgrown Chinese back-scratcher, and is used for "scratching" loose soil—not back.

A long-handled scythe now manufactured in place of the usual vegetable back-breaker, is another garden tool favored by Mrs. Crown.

Speaking of cutting tools, Mrs. Crown yesterday described a new type of pruning saw, a new pruning shears,

Pleas of 'Big Shot' Bootleggers Are Unavailing; Given Maximum

By LAMAR Q. BALL.

Two of Atlanta's "big shot" bootleggers—the kind that Judge E. Marvin Underwood just last week asked the federal grand jury to bring in court—appeared yesterday and found their pleas of guilty and mumbled requests for leniency of no avail.

Each was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and each fined $1,000, with the fines to stick. They were maximum sentences, something that Judge Underwood rarely gives.

Services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Center Hill Baptist church, with the Rev. R. D. Walker officiating. Burial will be in Hollywood cemetery.

The bootleggers were Glenn Bannister and Robert Richards, both in their twenties, but both described by W. K. Johnson, head of the federal grand jury, as "big shot" bootleggers.

Huge Business.

"The gang with which they operate brings between 15,000 and 20,000 gallons of moonshine liquor into the city every month," Johnson told the court.

"I have heard of them," said the judge.

During the last few years, about a dozen men have been sentenced by Judge Underwood for hauling liquor, told him they were working for Glenn Bannister or Robert Richards.

Judge Underwood has indicated in the past that he was more interested in having the big bootleggers who hire these run-runners brought before him than he was in sentencing the drivers themselves.

Yesterday, he had this opportunity. Attorney Paul Carpenter represented Bannister and Attorney Frank Douglas represented Richards.

As Bannister and Richards assented to the pleas of guilty, Bannister spoke up in a trembling voice:

"Your honor, I know I have done wrong. If you just let me go, I'll never appear before you again."

Both Carpenter and Douglas made the forward and told the judge that "these two boys are good country boys who have made a mistake and realize it. They fell in with bad companions."

Carpenter said that he had known Bannister for a number of years.

Douglas said that Richards had merely "been hanging around a garage. I know they're not bad boys. They have no money, but they have money in this case for Mr. Carpenter or me."

Carpenter added:

"If you know they are guilty, your honor, so they didn't want to cause the court any trouble."

"I'm not interested in the trouble they might cause this court," responded the judge. "I am merely interested in the trouble they cause to this community. I have had several men before me who were merely the tools of these two men."

The judge turned to Bannister:

"What do you do with all the money you make out of whisky selling?"

"Don't Make Any Money," your honor. I'm ready to quit. I have just begun to realize that there is nothing in bootlegging."

The judge looked unconvinced. Agent Johnson told him of a still in Meriwether county that his agents raided, and the entire output of 10,000 to 12,000 gallons a month was being bought by the Bannister-Richards gang.

"I shall sentence each of you to two years' imprisonment and shall fine each of you $1,000," announced the judge. "That is maximum penalty under the law and I consider it too lenient in this case."

Startled, Carpenter, moved forward.

"Your honor, won't the court consider the fact that these men pleaded guilty?"

Judge Underwood, signing the papers, said:

"I didn't ask them to plead guilty," Bannister and Richards had pleaded guilty in Judge Underwood's court to possessing and transporting liquor. They are awaiting sentence in the mid-district federal court of Georgia on similar charges.

COSACKS PLEDGE SUPPORT.

MOSCOW, March 18.—(AP)—A Cosack pledge to support the soviet government was published today as proof that years of efforts to win over the noted horsemen have achieved success.

A great Cosack festival at Rostoff-on-the-Don ended today with a parade of horsemen brandishing swords. It was witnessed by Marshal Simeon Budyonny, Cosack commander-in-chief of the soviet cavalry.

The easy way out, as far as hedge clipping is concerned, is shown being demonstrated by H. Stanley Hastings. ing the hand of friendship across the Rhine, and then exclaimed, "You know the echo of this—the Franco-Russian pact."

GERMANY IS PLEASED WITH LONDON ATTITUDE.

BERLIN, March 18.—(AP)—The German government viewed the international situation with the greatest optimism tonight after the departure of its delegation for the League of Nations.

The government-controlled press reflected a spirit of hopefulness such as has not existed in Germany since the termination of the Rhineland.

The Adolf Hitler's action in accepting the League invitation to meet with universal approval was a foregone conclusion. Many readers, however, were not prepared for the tone of jubilation which characterized today's press comments.

Germany's journey to London paved the way in peace, said the newspaper Der Angriff of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, in a four-column banner line.

Newspapers laid emphasis, however, on reports from Paris that the French government is not pleased by the appearance of the Germans in London.

This was contrasted with the British attitude described as one of hearty approval.

CUTTER SENT BY U. S. TO AID STRICKEN SHIP.

NORFOLK, Va., March 18.—(AP)—The Coast Guard cutter, U.S.A. Albatross, en route to Puerto Rico via Jacksonville, was instructed tonight to proceed to the American steamer Calmar, reported to be in a gale 200 miles south of Cape Hatteras with a deck load of steel shifting from one side of the vessel to the other.

The cutter has not asked for assistance, but sent a message to her owners, the Calmar Steamship Corporation, in New York, stating she was hoisted by a rough weather. The coast guard instructed the U.S.A. Albatross to communicate with the ship and render assistance if needed.

The Calmar is out of Philadelphia for Los Angeles and other west coast ports.

One-Legged Pension Racketeer Given 3-Year Term in U. S. Court

More than 20 old men and women from the remote regions of the north Georgia mountains crowded into the United States district court yesterday to hear P. W. Magee, a one-legged man of mystery, get a three-year sentence for plucking them for a dollar each to start a pension racket.

All had made the journey to Atlanta at the government's expense to testify against Magee, but just before the trial took the stand and told the same story and the court over which Judge C. B. Kennamer presided as a relief judge, moves swiftly.

Chief Fleming, special inspector of the Atlanta division, described Magee's racket.

Formal Notice Sent.

To the postmasters of 29 mountain towns, Magee sent a notice, printed formally, which read:

"NOTICE.

"Under recent legislation, an allowance in the form of a pension is to be made immediately available to those aged 65 or more. In order to facilitate action along this line taking as many as possible off the relief rolls, an agent has been appointed for this district to assist in filing.

He will be at — P. O. on — at —

All eligible for said benefits should be on hand at a fee of $1.00 will be required to defray the cost of filing.

"NATIONAL SECURITY LEAGUE"

Magee asked the postmasters to post the names of the eligible on the bulletin boards in the postoffices, which in many of these smaller towns, is practically the only link that the residents have with the outside world.

Postmaster Suspicious.

A postmaster in one of the larger towns became suspicious and reported to the Atlanta inspectors. Fleming took up the trail.

Fleming appeared at each town on the date specified in Magee's bulletin and found a number of old citizens gathered but Magee did not show up. So, he trailed Magee to his home in Fannin county, near Cowell.

Magee, who had told Postmaster R. V. Hester that he was a government agent, working for $3 a day and expenses, was arrested on charges of impersonating a federal officer.

He was charged with using the mails to defraud.

Among the witnesses put on the stand yesterday by United States Attorney A. Sidney Camp was J. H. Nichols, a mountaineer in his seventies.

Took 50-Cent Fee.

"I told Magee I did have a dollar," he said. "He asked me how much I had and I told him I had 50 cents at home. So he told me he would only charge me 50 cents. I took him home and got it."

Traffic Is Reported as Greatest Killer; Pneumonia Peril Increases.

Accidental deaths took the greatest toll in Georgia history last year, Dr. T. F. Abernethy, state health officer, reported yesterday to the annual session of the Georgia Board of Health.

"Accidental deaths showed an upward trend, the rate 79.7 per 100,000 population being the highest rate for any other year," he said.

"Most of these deaths were from automobile accidents which showed an increase of 12 per cent over 1934, and the rate 28.8 for 1935 is the highest rate ever recorded in Georgia.

Progress in combating several diseases was reported. The greatest decrease was in deaths of typhoid fever, malaria, diphtheria, measles, whooping cough, diphtheria, poliomyelitis, diarrhea and enteritis.

Tuberculosis fatalities decreased 4 per cent, the 56.7 rate being the lowest in state history. Cancer, heart disease and nephritis showed slight declines.

Diseases claiming more lives in Georgia last year were scarlet fever, influenza, meningitis, pellagra, cerebral hemorrhage and cirrhosis of the liver.

"Pneumonia continues to increase in importance as a public health problem in Georgia," the report said. "In 1935, 5,453 cases of pneumonia were reported with 3,017 deaths. The case rate was 180 per 100,000 and the death rate 90.8 per 100,000. This disease has by far the highest death rate of all notifiable diseases and is only third from the top of the list of deaths for all causes in 1934 in Georgia."

The report showed 62,000 births last year compared to 64,615 the year before. The rate was 20.5 per 1,000 population.

Deaths also declined from 36,590 in 1934 to 34,082 last year.

Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the board, presided.

Members attending were Dr. Cleveland Thompson, Millen; Dr. C. K. Sharp, Arlington; R. C. Ellis, Americus; Dr. M. M. Head, Zebulon; Dr. A. D. Rozer, Macon; Dr. M. M. McCord, Rome; Dr. H. W. STUDENTS IN LATIN TO ENTER TOURNAMENT

Classical Association Sponsors Statewide Event To Open in April.

Students throughout the state are showing marked enthusiasm in the Georgia Latin tournament, which is being conducted by the Classical Association of Georgia, with the cooperation of the Association of Georgia Colleges, officials declared yesterday.

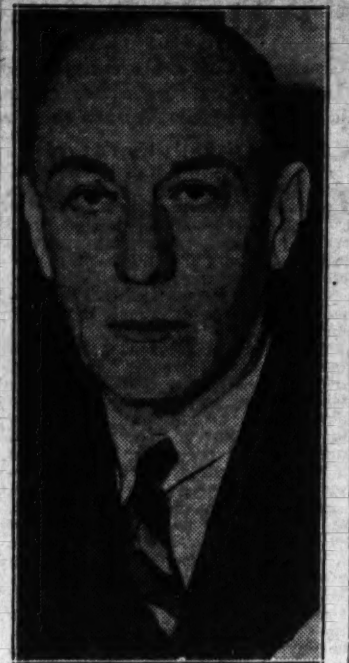

A bulletin with full details of eligibility, registration, method of selection of contestants and prizes already has been sent to each accredited school in the state. This bulletin was issued by the University of Georgia.

Registration and eligibility certificates of all students entering the contest, accompanied by a fee of 50 cents, must be mailed by the principal of the school to the district chairman not later than April 2. Full details and instructions will be sent to the schools competing in the contest by the district chairmen as soon as registrations are accepted.

On the day of the finals all contestants who have registered are to report to a headquarters designated in the district center selected by the central committee.

A chairman has been named for each congressional district. These chairmen are Miss Emily Charlton, Pope school, Savannah, first district; Mrs. J. D. Gardner, Camilla Consolidated school, Camilla, second; Miss Annie Laurie Daniel, of the high school at Richland, third; Mrs. Lee Hand, of the Seneca High school, fourth; Miss Lucie Hunt, of the Dalton High school, fifth; Miss Martha Comer, of the Athens High school, eighth; Miss Lucy Finger, 60 Academy street, Gainesville, ninth; Miss A. Dorothy Hains, Tubman high school, Augusta, tenth; Miss Corinne Martin, of the Valdosta High school, eleventh, and Miss Berena Rooks, of the Wrightsville High school, twelfth.

MACY HEAD SEES TRADE GAINS HERE

City Envisioned as Leading Mercantile Mart for Many States.

Impetus was given yesterday to the movement launched recently by Atlanta merchants and the Chamber of Commerce to establish this city as the leading mercantile market of the southeast by Percy S. Straus, president of R. H. Macy & Company, who is here for a brief visit.

"I think Atlanta can become the leading mercantile mart for hundreds of concerns throughout Georgia, Alabama, Florida and the Carolinas," he declared. "Undoubtedly your businessmen took a step forward when they sponsored market weeks. I do not think it necessary will follow that the larger metropolitan department stores will limit their buying to this section."

Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Straus came here from Belmar, Fla. He will spend several days in Atlanta before continuing to Augusta.

Atlanta apparently is regaining its economic strength of prosperity years. Mr. Straus observed. In fact, the entire southeast has been fortunate in escaping many economic jolts suffered by the New England states, where prosperity depends greatly upon foreign trade, he said.

Key Gets Close-Up View Of Traffic Reform Need

Mayor Key yesterday emerged from one of Atlanta's periodically recurring traffic jams convinced that something should be done about it.

A few minutes after he had appointed a special joint citizen-city council commission to study local traffic conditions, he became ensnared in a maze of ever-increasing vehicles at Decatur and Butler streets, and it took the combined efforts of firemen, policemen, street car operators, and even a lowly reporter, to free his official car.

A heavily loaded truck stalled at the intersection and was unable to move. Drivers kept inching up, as they will do, and soon none of them could move in any direction. Herbert T. Jenkins, Key's chauffeur, who stopped when he saw he could not proceed, was hemmed in. It required the better part of 15 minutes to untangle the mess.

TRAFFIC STUDY GROUP NAMED BY MAYOR KEY

Councilman White Heads Joint Commission; First Meeting Stated Saturday

Mayor Key yesterday named a joint city council-citizen group to make a special study of local traffic conditions with a view to recommending changes designed to curb automobile accidents and reduce the number of traffic deaths on Atlanta streets.

Councilman John A. White, fourth ward, author of the council measure establishing the joint commission, was named chairman, with W. Eugene Harrington, prominent in relief and civic activities of Atlanta for many years, as vice chairman.

White called the first meeting for 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning at the city hall.

Other commission members are Councilman G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the police committee of city council; Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company; A. L. Myers, prominent Atlanta merchant; Councilman Howard Haile, former member of the police committee who has given traffic matters much study; and Frank Wilson, chairman of council's garage committee.

The commission will study the cooperation of citizens generally and its first session to follow a meeting of the citizens' safety commission, slated for Friday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce building.

"We are not going to make any haphazard study of traffic conditions," White said. "We are going to give it the most careful study possible and believe that we will be able to recommend changes which will be of lasting benefit to citizens of this community."

COURT GRANTS REVIEW IN MAXWELL APPEAL

Young Teacher Contends
She Struck Father in Self-Defense.

RICHMOND, Va., March 18.—(AP) Edith Maxwell, 21-year-old Wise county teacher, given a 25-year prison sentence upon conviction of murdering her father, was granted a review today by the Virginia supreme court.

Miss Maxwell was convicted last November, contending at the trial that she struck her father with the handle of a slipper when he attempted to rape her. She testified that he was drinking at the time.

Two motions for a new trial were overruled by Judge H. W. Skeels, and the appeal to the state supreme court of appeals was argued here last week.

The action of the appellate court in granting a review of the case, merely means that it will review the case.

The principal argument in the appeal was that the evidence was insufficient to convict. It was also contended that the lower court erred in failing to instruct the jury in the case to include other than first degree murder.

Trigg Maxwell, village blacksmith of Pound, in Wise county, was killed in early 1935. Mrs. Maxwell, wife of Edith, also indicted, is to be tried in April. She testified at Edith's trial that Trigg Maxwell was roaring with her at the time of the alleged attempt to whip his daughter. The state offered witnesses in an effort to refute the testimony that Maxwell was drinking.

CANNING TALK SET

Chemical Problem Faced by Industry Is Topic.

Dr. Edward F. Kohman, of Washington, D. C., research associate in the laboratories of the National Canning Association, will address the Georgia section of the American Chemical Society at a meeting at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Brittain dining hall at Georgia Tech. He will discuss chemical problems confronting the industrial canner.

Representatives of the Georgia canning industry and others interested in the preservation of food are invited by officials of the Georgia section to hear Dr. Kohman. His discussion will include data on the respective vitamin contents of canned products and home-cooked foods.

The address will follow a dinner for members of the Georgia section.

IS BURIED AT NORCROSS

Final rites for Dr. P. L. Collinsworth, retired physician, who died Tuesday morning at his home, 100 Fifth street, N. W., were held yesterday afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. The Rev. J. Ed Fain officiated and burial was at Norcross, Ga.

Dr. Collinsworth was the father of Dr. A. M. Collinsworth, of Atlanta, and had lived here since his retirement in 1920. He was 63.

ATLANTA T. P. A. POST SEEKS NEW MEMBERS

A campaign for new members was launched yesterday by members of Atlanta Post B of the Travelers Protective Association following a meeting at a downtown hotel. During the drive, which will last 30 days, officials of the post expect to enlist 300 new members.

Two teams were organized, one to be headed by Frank Connell, president of the post, and the other by N. T. Chambers, chairman of the campaign. At the end of the drive members of the winning team will be given a banquet.

$3,000 DRIVE STARTED TO AID BETHEL CHURCH

Drive to raise $3,000 to save the Big Bethel A. M. E. church from foreclosure has been launched by church officials who believe it is necessary to raise $3,000 by May in order to guarantee an extension of 10 years on the church's $38,000 indebtedness.

Appeals to residents of Atlanta, both white and negro, are being made.

New Jersey Puts Speed Governor On Car of Habitual Safety Sinner

The distinction of being the first state in the Union to require a motorist to install a speed governor on his car is claimed by New Jersey.

The motorist, a young man, recently had his driver's license revoked after a record of several convictions for traffic law violations was piled up against him. He was an habitual violator and was to sit behind the steering wheel of a car in New Jersey, in the opinion of Arthur W. Magee, acting motor vehicle commissioner.

The convictions were mostly for speeding and all occurred within the space of a year.

So the commissioner, an official of New Jersey, decided the safe thing to do was to revoke the young man's driver's license.

Necessary for Job.

But the young man appeared before Commissioner Magee and pleaded to have his license restored, declaring he had learned his lesson and that it was necessary to have a driver's license in connection with his work.

Impressed with his plea, Mr. Magee consented to issue a conditional license only if he would install a governor on his car, set so the vehicle cannot operate faster than 40 miles an hour, the maximum speed limit set by law.

By that method, giving the driver a probationary driver's license and installing a governor on his car, New Jersey changed one of its potential road killers into a thinking driver, mechanically prohibited from speeding.

That, motorists and pedestrians of Georgia, is real control of a deadly traffic hazard.

No License Law Here.

This state, it seems, is unable to obtain for itself, through its legislative assembly, even the benefits of a state driver's license law.

And the thought of putting a speed governor on the car of one of our active careless killers would make a traffic commissioner, if we had one, throw up his hands in horror.

Yet the slaughter on streets and highways of Georgia increases year by year.

But one of the most important proposals now being considered by motor vehicle administrators and safety leaders throughout the country is compulsory installation of governors on all cars. It is argued that controlled speed will reduce the appalling number of fatal and maiming accidents.

Commissioner Magee's experiment, therefore, will be watched with interest.

Up To Individuals.

In the absence in Georgia of such a control as is exercised by the New Jersey commissioner, the fight against auto accident death remains largely in the hands of individual drivers and pedestrians.

Term of 12 Months on Chain Gang Given Ex-Salvation Army Captain

Joe Lewis, former Salvation Army captain, discovered yesterday that the "primrose path" he has followed for the last six years leads only to a Fulton county chain gang camp.

He was found guilty in Fulton superior court of attempting to pass a forged check on Mrs. Emma McDaniel, head of the Terrace Bridge Club, of Atlanta, and Judge John D. Humphries sentenced him to serve the next 12 months on the gang.

His conviction followed the testimony of Mrs. G. B. Levy, president of the Roosevelt Bridge Club, who came here from New Orleans to swear in court that Lewis forged her name to a $15 check, which he endeavored to get Mrs. McDaniel to cash.

A man of many aliases, Lewis has been arrested in at least 15 cities ranging from Florida to California.

Wanted in Other Cities.

Assistant Solicitor Quincy Arnold, who prosecuted Lewis, said the defendant was wanted in a number of cities on charges ranging from auto theft to cheating and swindling.

Another charge of cheating and swindling Mrs. McDaniel of $15 is pending against Lewis in Fulton criminal court now. In the indictment against him, it was alleged he represented himself to Mrs. McDaniel as a salesman for a nationally-known playing card company and succeeded in getting an order from the well-known Atlanta bridge expert. It was charged he never was connected with the card company at all, but used the money himself.

Court officials asserted Lewis' career was a checkered one. Arrests are listed against him in many cities and states since he was alleged to have absconded with Salvation Army funds in a midwestern state while he was a captain of the organization.

Long Record.

His record, as compiled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, reveals the following information.

Under the name of John Roth, arrested in Los Angeles in June, 1929, for perjury. He was taken into custody in Oakland, Cal., in November, 1929, on a forged check and was sentenced to serve one year.

Evidently he did not go to prison on this sentence, because he was arrested the next month of that year in the same city under the name of John

HEARST'S INJUNCTION DEFEATED BY PROBERS

Representatives Applaud as McSwain Assails Publisher in Speech.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—The senate lobby committee circumvented one of William Randolph Hearst's two injunction suits today when it passed a resolution to refer the matter to the committee on the national defense.

He said, false charges had been made against him in the Hearst press, charges misstating the facts of the case.

When McSwain concluded, the house broke into a pandemonium of cheering. Members rushed to the well, to pound his back and shake his hand. Majority Leader Bankhead, his arm around McSwain's waist, escorted him to the rear of the chamber, while Senator Byrnes, democrat, South Carolina, who had been listening, also rushed up with his congratulations.

The cancellation of the subpoena, and consequently of the legal attack upon it, left still pending a suit brought by Hearst which would have the courts enjoin the committee from making any use of Hearst's telegrams in its possession, require their return to the publisher and require that it refer to him in seeking to obtain other such telegrams.

The action of the Black committee in withdrawing its subpoena, said Hanson in a statement, "is admission of the enormity of its offense and its knowledge of the enormity of its offense."

"Mr. Hearst went into open court, which is the right of every citizen, to present his liberties under the first, fourth and fifth amendments to the constitution of the United States. The Black committee has fled from court and written a coward's letter."

Hanson said to second suit to restrain the committee had not been killed by the withdrawal of the subpoena, and that it would be "pushed to its conclusion."

He said the message delivered to McSwain "purported to be but was not a copy" of the telegram sent by Hearst to James T. Williams, Hearst's chief editorial writer in Washington. He did not expand this statement.

Excerpts of the text of the message as read by McSwain into the house record, addressed to Williams, follows:

"Confidential. Why not make several editorials calling for the impeachment of Mr. McSwain. He is the enemy within the gates of congress, the nation's traitor. He is a communist in spirit and a traitor in effect. He would leave the United States naked to its foreign and domestic enemies. Please make these editorials for morning papers. Also make editorials extolling administration for its preparedness policies which are its main achievement. Suggest advocating duplicating West Point in middle west and Annapolis on Pacific coast."

McSwain made this the basis of his attack.

"My loyalty, my patriotism, my honesty and my integrity have been questioned by this little pen-pusher."

he said of Williams, adding he had been so upset that he had been at pains to hide copies of the Hearst papers from his family.

He reviewed his record as chairman of the military committee at length, asserting he had made effort to refer to him at the improvement of the national defense. For two years, he said, false charges had been made against him in the Hearst press, charges misstating the facts of the case.

HAVE YOU AN Igorrote IN YOUR HOME

BLESS their little hearts, it's a never-ceasing mystery how children, scrubbed and shining like moist little angels, can in ten minutes transform themselves into such plausible likenesses of Igorrote Indians.

Keeping them clean, even spasmodically, is such a task without plenty of steaming hot water, available when you need it, that both Mother and the Indians are likely to display frayed tempers from time to time that add nothing to the Charm of Home.

It isn't easy under any circumstances, but with an Automatic Gas Water Heater that without effort, without even thinking about it, gives you an unlimited supply of steaming hot water it's SO much easier.

They are, with gas, surprisingly inexpensive to operate, and easy to own. $1.75 down, and $1.75 a month installs one in your home.

DENIAL OF ALLEGATIONS IS ISSUED BY REDWINEState Senate President Says He Did Not Block Chappell Efforts.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ga., March 18. (AP)—President Charles D. Redwine of the state senate, today denied a charge by a group of fellow senators that he was blocking efforts for a self-convened session of the legislature to consider an appropriations bill.

Senator Redwine issued the following statement at his home here:

"In this morning's papers, in a statement purportedly by Senators Allen Chappell, of America, and W. A. Hart, of Newman, the following appeared:

"The chief obstruction the Governor has placed in our path is the president of the state senate, who has called senators over long-distance telephone in advance of our seeing them and using every appeal and pressure to hold things in the hands of the Governor as they are now."

"I regret very much to challenge the truthfulness of a statement made by any member of the senate and the most charitable thing I can say is that this statement is grossly erroneous."

"I have never in my life called any member of the senate by long-distance telephone or otherwise and appealed to him or urged or even suggested to him to sign a petition to attend a self-convened session of the legislature, or do anything else."

"I have never in my life called any member of the senate by long-distance telephone or otherwise and appealed to him or urged or even suggested to him to sign a petition to attend a self-convened session of the legislature, or do anything else."

"In fact I have discussed the matter with him one time and about all that was said was that he did not think the constitution of this state made any provision for a self-convened session of the legislature."

"I talked with Hart."

"Senator Hart came to my home here on his own motion last Sunday and we discussed this whole situation fully, freely and candidly. I stated to him that I had refused to take any part in this fight for two reasons:

"First, because I had no place in it, and second, because I had hoped that sometime and in some way an opportunity might present itself whereby I might be able to render my state some service in undertaking to reach some satisfactory solution of this highly controversial matter."

"I felt that occupying the position I do that I could more effectively serve my people by keeping to and refraining from engaging in the melee. He stated to me that he thought my position was correct and commended me for the course I have pursued."

"My only communication with Senator Chappell has been an exchange of telegrams and two letters. On February 26 he wrote me demanding that I as president of the senate convene the general assembly in an extraordinary session. I promptly replied that the constitution and laws of this state vested no authority in me to do so.

"On March 2 he again wrote a very lengthy letter outlining the utterly foolish proposal that I personally declare the Governor mentally incapacitated, go up to the capital, kick him out of office, assume charge of the state government and convene the legislature in an extraordinary session."

"I hardly deemed Water worthy of a reply, however, I did write him immediately declining to enter into such a silly and untenable scene."

"From the statement issued, I presume these gentlemen have failed to secure the 45 names they had announced through the press they would be able to secure on a petition, or even 34 they announced they already had, and are trying to find a soft place on which to land and somebody on whom to place the blame for their failure."

"Certain I have thrown no stumbling blocks in their way. So far as I have been, or am concerned, they have had a free rein and an open road."

PITTSBURGH FLOODED,
WITHOUT GAS, POWER

those who needed them. Fires broke out and many burned unchecked because there were no telephone lines to carry alarms. A tank car loaded with gasoline exploded in a railroad yard, starting a fire which destroyed six buildings. Flood waters prevented firemen from reaching it.

Gasoline stations exhausted their supplies. Street lights were dark. The South Pittsburgh Water Company lost one of its main plants and 250,000 customers feared they would be without water for several days.

Mayor William McNair ordered the arrest of any merchant who raised the price of food, clothing and other necessities.

Officials of light and power companies said they would need 24 hours to dry out electricity generating equipment after the flood waters rose to an equal amount of time to restore steam and gas equipment.

Prisoners Endangered.

Manufacturing plants were decommissioned. Pittsburgh's three newspapers sent editorial and mechanical crews to nearby cities to work on abbreviated editions.

Pittsburgh's three rivers reached a height of 46 feet, or 21 feet above flood stage before receding. The stage was expected to be 42 feet at 8 a. m. tomorrow. The weather bureau's measurement gauge was valueless because of 1930.

Residents of the populous north side were made badly uncomfortable by mud swirling through the district. The tidal of homeless folk soared into the thousands.

A score of explosions occurred as water struck hot boilers in homes and industrial plants. One of them injured 30 persons the other 19.

Hundreds of prisoners waited quietly for food on the upper floors of Western penitentiary. There was no light or heat. The guarding walls were almost under water.

Marital Law Asked.

Governor George Earle flew from one city to another.

At several points he was asked to declare martial law as the waters reached flood, money and other goods. He estimated 18 were dead at Johnstown. The mayor said damage would exceed that of 1880.

The death toll:

Pittsburgh and Johnstown 5; Roselle, 4; Lockhaven, 3; Cresson and Petersburg, 2; Connelleyville, Vandergrift, Sunbury, Bellefonte, Pottsville, Tyrone, Clearfield, Coraopolis and Herdon, 1 each.

Marital Puzzle Develops.

A Detroit woman gave the marriage license bureau a puzzle. After marrying and divorcing, she married another man. But she divorced him. Now she is married to a third man. The bureau is puzzled.

Speaker Rivers, Harris Attacked
In Answer of Talmadge to PleaGovernor Talmadge unleashed a new attack on Speaker E. D. Rivers, of the house of representatives, in refusing the petition of 27 members of the senate for a special session to consider appropriations.

In his statement, a copy of which went to each of the 27 members signing the petition, the Governor said that he had promised to call a special session following the November election. If the 15-mill tax limitation is enacted into the constitution and added that the general assembly then could consider appropriations.

In response to the petition presented to me with the signatures of 27 members of the senate, requesting an immediate call for an extra session, I appreciate the right, not only of the members of the senate and the house, but of any citizen of Georgia, to petition the Governor on any matter affecting the welfare of the state at any time.

To all such petitions, I give earnest consideration.

In answer to this present petition,
I wish to state the following:

In 1933 Hon. Hamilton McWhorter, president of the senate, Hon.
E. D. Rivers was speaker of the house.

In 1933 there was an effort made to defeat the passage of a general appropriation bill so as to prevent the Governor to call a special session of the legislature. But, in 1933, a general appropriation bill was passed.

For the adjournment of the regular session in 1933, a proposition was put to Hon. Hamilton McWhorter, president of the senate, to absent himself from the state of Georgia on some occasion when the Governor would also be outside of the state, so that Speaker E. D. Rivers, in line of succession, could come over and physically take charge of the government's office.

Be it said to the credit of Hon.
Hamilton McWhorther that he absolutely refused to be a party to any such movement of treason against the state government.

At the last regular session of the general assembly, the senate passed an appropriation bill within the anticipated revenue of the state, and the grandfather clause was placed on each item of the appropriation bill.

In my inaugural address I had advocated this before the general assembly, to carry out the campaign pledge I had made the people of getting the state out of debt, and keeping it out of debt.

There were three senate conference committees appointed to consider the differences between the house and the senate on the appropriation bill.

While they were considering the appropriation bill on the last night of the session, Dr. S. V. Sanford came to my office about 9 o'clock and told me that Speaker E. D. Rivers had just informed him that there was going to be an extra session of the legislature, and that no appropriation bill would be passed that night.

After this statement from Speaker
E. D. Rivers he appointed two conference committees from the house to confer with conference committees from the senate.

Harris Statement.

At the last conference committee,
Roy Harris stated to R. B. McWhorter, who was on the conference committee from the senate, that the house had promised certain things, and had put them in the appropriation bill, and that he was going to do it, and that he was going to do it, and that he was going to do it.

A speaker of the house and a floor leader, by parliamentary tactics can delay any measure and prevent a majority from expressing their wishes on the appropriation bill.

The great majority of the house and senate are composed of upright, honest men, who have the welfare of the state of Georgia at heart. The great majority of these honorable bodies do not want a government conducted from the legislative halls.

In an emergency it is the duty of the chief executive to carry on the functions of the government by proclamation.

We have ample funds to run the state. We are out of debt for the first time since the War Between the States.

The law does not say when an appropriation bill shall be passed by the general assembly.

I made the statement when I appeared before the general assembly before adjournment on Saturday, advocating a limitation in taxes, that the general assembly would be called in extra session immediately after the general election, if the constitutional amendment prevailed. That statement stands.

It would be unwise to have an extra session of the legislature now, when the state is rife with politics.

It is the duty of every patriotic Georgia citizen to assist the chief executive in this undertaking.

Extra sessions are called when some emergency arises that did not exist at the time of the regular session of the general assembly.

No new emergency has arisen. The general appropriation bill was before the regular session of the general assembly, and the Governor was acting on account of political ambitions of Speaker E. D. Rivers and Representative Roy Harris.

Without Extra Expense.

Let me have the politics over and the primary and general election, too.
Then we will meet back and consider a tax measure if the constitutional amendment passes, and at that time we will take up the extra session of the general assembly. The expense to the taxpayers of the state of Georgia.

The people of Georgia are concerned about the state of Georgia, and whether the state of Georgia has the money to run the government than they are to have an extra session of the legislature to consider the general assembly.

In conclusion, I wish to state this:
I have the highest respect for the general assembly, including the senate and the house, and I extend to each and every one of you an invitation to come out to the mansion and see the Governor's office.

ing Field—Itself under a threat of flooding and a threat to the Pennsylvania and Maryland flood areas. Radio reports from the air and other observers streamed into the War and Navy Departments.

Other Aid Offered.

In addition to creating the emergency flood relief committee, the retary Derr, Mr. Roosevelt authorized the army, coast guard and other agencies to utilize any necessary equipment to give the people help in widespread areas already flooded.

They will co-operate with the Red Cross in rescue and relief operations and with the navy in the protection of the coast.

Earlier, the president had granted blanket authority to all state workers progress administrators to use WPA workers wherever they are needed in the flood areas. State WPA workers will issue their own orders. The army's engineer corps simultaneously was directed to co-operate with the relief work.

The president's memorandum to Secretary Derr's emergency committee said:

"I request that you act as a committee to determine and to carry out such plans as may be necessary for the part of the federal government to prevent loss of life, destruction of property, and distress arising from the springs flood."

Close Trench Urged.

"Every necessary agency of the federal government should give whatever aid it can to the people of the flood areas."

"Your committee should, of course, keep in close touch with governors and local officials of the states affected."

"Use of government equipment in such emergency is hereby authorized."

A copy of the memorandum was sent to Secretary Derr.

Other members of the committee are Secretary Morgenthau, Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews, acting secretary of the navy, Harry Hopkins, war progress administrator, and Robert Fechner, director of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

From the War Department were radioed orders to the army's engineers of six army corps areas to extend all aid possible toward the prevention of the loss of life, distress and destruction of property.

Commanders were instructed to keep in radio contact with headquarters here.

Bomber Leaves.

A big bomber plane, piloted by Lieutenant David R. Gibbs of Langley field, Va., took off early today carrying short wave radio equipment to make contact with relief workers on the ground and in radioing directions for immediate relief operations.

An observation plane, carrying signal corps photographers, hopped off Langley field at 11:27 a. m. and made a photographic survey. The other observation plane carried Red Cross officials who planned to report to national headquarters here.

A weather bureau station at the Potomac in the vicinity of Washington would reach its highest stage since 1880 set governmental machinery here to protect the capital and government property. An estimate was that the Potomac would rise about 18 feet above normal sometime tomorrow.

Under authorization of Harry Hopkins, secretary of the navy, 600 CCC men and 900 national park service workers at work on a dike. The objective was to have a five-foot barricade completed by tomorrow noon extending between the river and the navy department, skirting the Washington monument.

A second barricade was planned to protect the army war college in its exposed position at the junction of the Anacostia and Potomac rivers.

INDORSE ROOSEVELT

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 18.—(P)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt was unanimously endorsed and the state democratic executive committee was called on to provide for a presidential preference primary in Georgia by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Chattahoochee Lodge, at a meeting here last night.

The last night declared that if the state executive committee does not see fit to call a state-wide primary, "we do hereby place Hugh Howell, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, on notice that we will personally hold him and Governor Talma jointly responsible."

DON'T
A COLD

Put soothing, warming Musterole well into your chest and throat. Musterole is NOT just a salve. It's a "counter-irritant" containing good old-fashioned cold remedies—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor and other valuable ingredients. That's why it gets such fine results—better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. It penetrates, stimulates, warms and soothes, driving out local congestion and pain. Used by millions for 25 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau, No. 4867.

"I'm All Fagged-Out"

When you come home from work fatigued and exhausted—give yourself a refreshing rub-down with cooling, soothing Penorub. Draws out all the aches; soothes away the tiredness; relaxes overworked nerves. Buy Penorub. At drug stores everywhere. 1 oz. bottle 35c; 3 oz. 60c-80c; 16 oz. $1.75. It's always economy to buy Penorub. Rubs Out Pain.

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin. We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice. Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct. Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly. You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

PATTERN 5557

Don't long for "heirlooms"—make them yourself! All you have to do is to knit and repeat a simple square, whose pattern you'll learn by heart in almost no time. They'll soon be rolling off your needles at a great rate, for you use string for these, and string knits up very quickly. When you're a quantity laid by, join them for a handsome bedspread, dinner or tea cloth, scarf or pillow. Only four squares are needed to complete the main motif of this design.

In pattern 5557 you will find complete instructions for making the square shown; an illustration of it and of the stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern, send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and patch number.

Athena Attorney Sees Need of Appropriations Bill.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 18.—(P)—Describing the Georgia fiscal situation as a hopeless tangle, Abit Nix, prominent Athens attorney and former candidate for governor, said here today he did not see how the state finances could be handled without an appropriations bill.

Mr. Nix, who appeared here last night on the program of the 12th annual dinner of the Hibernian society, declared he was anxious to see a state presidential primary held in Georgia, and felt the results would be overwhelming for Roosevelt.

"I believe the people of Georgia whatever their views may be are entitled to express their preference between the two schools of thought," said Mr. Nix with reference to the primary.

Discussing what has been termed Governor Talmadge's financial dictatorship, the attorney said he saw no reason why the executive was unwilling to call a special session of the legislature to pass an appropriation bill, especially when the subject matter of the session can be limited in the call.

Without mentioning the cause, Mr. Nix said the swing toward Roosevelt has increased for some reason in the last few weeks. He asserted the criticisms of Governor Talmadge toward the President were both "bad taste and bad policy."

BUSINESSMEN TO HEAR
DODD IN NOON SERMON

Atlanta businessmen will be addressed by Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church at Shreveport and former president of the Southern Baptist convention, at luncheon meetings at noon today and tomorrow at the Kimball House. The speaker is conducting a series of services at the First Baptist church, of which Dr. Ellis A. Fuller is pastor. Dr. Fuller announced that businessmen, irrespective of denomination, are invited to hear Dr. Dodd at the luncheon.

In his sermons at the First Baptist church Dr. Dodd is telling of the necessity of a revival of faith among churches, institutions and individuals. Services are being held at 10:30 o'clock and at 7:30 o'clock daily.

WALTON LEADS MOSS
IN BARTOW ELECTION

Sheriff Sanders Defeats Two Opponents in Wilkinson County.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., March 18.—(P)—W. C. Walton, for 30 years clerk of Bartow county superior court until his defeat last term by W. B. Moss, apparently had re-won the office tonight on the face of unofficial returns from the democratic primary.

Nearly complete unofficial tabulations tonight gave Walton 1,888 votes to 1,842 for Moss, the incumbent. Other incumbents were re-elected. Sheriff E. W. Gaddis won 2,323 to 1,407 over W. S. Knight; Tax Collector H. C. Melton led John L. Milan 2,063 to 1,963; Tax Receiver Smith Mansfield led G. L. Holden 2,392 to 1,329; School Superintendent John K. Headen had 1,062 votes to 1,043 for C. D. Perry and 852 for E. D. Hamrick.

R. M. Gaines, ordinary; W. W. Daniel, surveyor, and E. W. Hendricks, coroner, were re-elected without opposition.

SANDERS RENAMED
IN WILKINSON COUNTY

IRWINGTON, Ga., March 18.—Unofficial incomplete returns from Wilkinson county's primary held today indicated the re-election of Sheriff Thurman Sanders over two opponents and the renaming of Ordinary J. E. Butler. E. S. Mills was leading for coroner. These were the only officers having opposition and interest centered in the races for sheriff and ordinary.

W. W. WALKER NAMED
PUTNAM SCHOOL HEAD

EATONTON, Ga., March 18.—(P)—W. W. Walker, young Eatonton attorney, has been elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Warren M. Marshall as superintendent of education for Putnam county.

The county board of education elected Walker to serve until January 1, 1937. He is a graduate of the literary and law schools of Mercer University, and also attended University of Georgia. He has been actively practicing law here since January 1, 1933, and is president of the Eatonton Bar Association.

Marshall died February 19 after serving as superintendent for 12 years. Since that time W. J. Beall, chairman of the board of education, has been acting superintendent.

BARREL PLANT, STOCK
BURN AT BRUNSWICK

BRUNSWICK, Ga., March 18.—(P)—Fire early this morning destroyed the barrel factory of the Downing Company, naval stores factors, at a loss estimated by officials of the company at $25,000.

The plant and a stock of 14,000 barrels burned. The loss is partly covered by insurance, it was announced. Fanned by high winds, the flames ignited a half-dozen near-by structures. The roofs of a number of buildings in the vicinity were damaged by sparks.

MAKE HER SCHOOL OR PARTY DRESS IN YOUTHFUL CAPELET STYLE.

Pattern 2698. "Prettiest at the party" and she wears an adorable capelet-sleeved frock to show her playmates just how smart a little girl can look in this new and popular style. Such an easy pattern to follow, too, for as you see, those wee small capelets are cut all-in-one with the scalloped yokes, and together frame her pretty face. Best of all, you'll realize two patterns for the price of one when you choose this style, for there's a pattern for dainty panties included, to wear with this or other frocks. Swiss, dainty or batiste are nice for parties or Sunday best and trim with perky bows instead of buttons; sturdy broadcloth, percale or gingham are school or playtime dependables.

Pattern 2698 is available in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6 takes 2-3/8 yards 36-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. Send 15 cents in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

Send for your copy of our Lillian Mae pattern book. You'll like its forethought advice on the latest patterns, fabrics, accessories, fashion trends. You'll like the way it helps you plan a whole smart wardrobe. You'll like the fascinating styles, the delightful patterns for misses and children. A book that's brimming with good ideas. A. W. Bell Wins Sheriff Post in Hall County

THOMAS SHERIFF
DENIES CHARGES

Gordon Davis Says He Did Not Conspire Against Revenue Law.

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 18.—(P)—Sheriff Gordon Davis, of Thomas county, taking the witness stand in his own defense in federal district court here today, denied government charges that he conspired to violate the internal revenue laws and declared he has never received any money for protection of illicit liquor dealings.

The sheriff went on the stand just before the court recessed for lunch, after the government had introduced the testimony of state circuit court and Thomas county court officials in their case against him.

In his testimony the sheriff denied all the charges brought against him in the indictment of the government. George Lilly, solicitor of the southern judicial circuit, and Frank Forester, solicitor of the city court of Thomasville, said Sheriff Davis had not reported the seizure of liquor cars for condemnation purposes, and Lilly admitted on cross-examination that only in Colquitt county, in his circuit, had such reports been made by sheriffs.

PEACH SUITS SEEK TO RECOVER FUNDS

FORT VALLEY, Ga., March 18.—(P)—Three suits seeking $32,000 recovery and charging illegal payment to the Peach county ordinary were on file today in superior court.

Named in the actions were Judge M. C. Moore, ordinary since Peach county's organization in 1925; J. E. Broadrick, serving his second term as treasurer, and C. E. Martin, treasurer during the first four years of the county's existence.

The suits were brought in the names of Dr. F. C. Davis, of Macon, and his daughter, Mrs. Bonnie Sue Awtry, who are Peach county taxpayers. The suits specified they were filed for the benefit of the county.

Judge Mooney has served as ex-officio county manager for the last 11 years and it was upon this service and its compensations that the suits were based.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colman—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel weak, sick and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mass bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harsh, gas, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

"Walnut 5400?"

...Mr. Hale, please"

Hello, Mr. Hale. This is Jim Brown. Remember that suit I bought Tuesday? A sort of gray color... "marine tone" I believe you called it. Well, Mr. Hale, you certainly were right when you said the fellows would want to know where they could get something similar to it. When I said "Muss"—$28.75" they just gasped and said "Gangway!" So I just thought I'd tell you to be on the lookout for them—Bill, Walt and Murray—they'll be in any minute. Show them all your new marine tones, Mr. Hale. But do me just one favor first, will you? Put aside that double-breasted blue with the check pattern. Because I'll come in for it tomorrow.

April 28th Presidential Primary Promises Fireworks in Bay State

Both Democratic and Republican Candidates Entangled in Maze of Local Rivalries; Sharp Differences Noted in Party Ranks.

(Editor's Note—This is the third of a series of Associated Press dispatches presenting a detailed view of state political situations as they affect the national political campaign scene.)

By EREN A. AYERS.
 Associated Press Staff Writer.
 BOSTON, March 18.—(AP)—Presidential candidates in Massachusetts—both democratic and republican—were entangled in a maze of local rivalries today as leaders of the two parties made plans for the state's presidential primary, April 28, when delegates to the national convention will be elected.

Sharp differences, growing out of the bitter warfare of four years ago, were apparent in democratic ranks. Governor James M. Curley, original Roosevelt-for-President advocate in 1932, leads the Roosevelt forces this year, and former Governor Joseph B. Ely, leader of the group which backed Alfred E. Smith in 1932, heads the anti-administration forces. Three names appear in the forefront of discussion of republican presidential prospects, Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago and Manchester, N. H., publisher; Governor Alf Landon, of Kansas, and Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, each with backers among prominent party workers. The name of former President Herbert Hoover also is a factor through his friendship with John Richardson, national committeeman and long-time supporter of Hoover. Involved in the confused democratic situation are the political ambitions of Governor Curley, already an announced candidate for the United States senate seat of Marcus Coolidge, democrat. Four years ago Curley led the Roosevelt forces in a primary fight for Roosevelt-placed delegates to the national convention and was defeated by a ticket headed by Ely, and Senator David L. Walsh.

Walsh again lined up with Ely to oppose Curley in the gubernatorial fight two years ago, when the present governor was victorious. Walsh has announced his support of Roosevelt in the coming campaign and is expected to be a candidate with Curley for a place on the Roosevelt-placed delegation to the Philadelphia convention. Ely, a consistent opponent of New Deal policies since Roosevelt's election, followed the lead of Alfred E. Smith after the latter's Liberty League address with speeches along similar lines. He has urged an unpledged democratic delegation to the convention. He recently spurned an offer of a place on the state committee's proposed ticket of delegates. Indications were that republican leaders generally would seek an unpledged delegation to the national convention and that contests for places on the delegation would be numerous between the supporters of the various candidates or prospective candidates.

Knox Favored.

Colonel Knox's candidacy has met with a favorable response in some quarters where he is looked upon to some degree as a "favorite son" of New England. With the New Hampshire delegation generally favorable to him, several Massachusetts leaders are backing him. The Landon boom has the backing of other elements, chief among those favorable being former Lieutenant Governor Gaspar G. Bacon, titular leader of the party in the state and a convention delegate candidate. Bacon was defeated by Curley for governor two years ago. Another element of Landon support is the (T. R.) Roosevelt Club of Massachusetts, although the club's head, Robert M. Washburn, unsuccessful candidate for United States senator in 1934, is personally for Borah. Washburn proposed to enter a Borah-placed ticket in the primary but was requested not to by the senator. The club was polled as to its presidential preferences and Washburn announced that Landon was favored by the members.

Indication of the intraparty differences came to light when National Committeeman Richardson projected a slate of unpledged delegates which included Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy under Hoover, and George F. Booth, Worcester publisher and chairman of the republican delegation four years ago. Other leaders labeled the ticket a "Hoover slate."

Curley's senatorial campaign already promises fireworks. In the event he wins the nomination he may be opposed by a republican candidate whose name will have a familiar ring to republicans. Among the announced candidates for the republican nomination are Mayor Sinclair Weeks, of Newton, son of John W. Weeks, former United States senator and secretary of war in the Harding cabinet, and Henry Cabot Lodge III, grandson of the late United States Senator Lodge. Lodge, now a state representative, has expressed his opposition to phases of the Roosevelt administration.

JOSEPH WASSER, 47, PASSES AT RESIDENCE

Prominent Atlanta Businessman Was Widely Known in Fraternal Circles.

Joseph Wasser, of 770 Argonne avenue, N. E., prominent Atlanta businessman and well-known figure in fraternal circles, died yesterday morning at his home. He was 47.

Mr. Wasser was a Scottish Rite Mason, an active member of the Yaarab Temple and was affiliated with Grant Park lodge No. 604. He was connected with the Keely Company, pioneer Atlanta firm, for more than 25 years.

Surviving are his wife; a son, Joseph Wasser Jr.; a daughter, Miss Ellen Wasser; a brother, Arthur Wasser, and a sister, Mrs. M. I. Marks.

Final rites will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Sam Greenberg, with Dr. David Marx officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Funeral services will be Dr. M. L. Calumet, R. D. Bame, Courtney Canale, K. C. Cohen, Nathan Saltzman, Dr. George Chait, W. B. Schwartz, Arthur Glass, Bartis Goodman, Julius Glass and Nathan Levy.

The Shrine Oriental band, of which Mr. Wasser was an active member, will serve as honorary escort.

GEORGIA 'AUTHOR TO SPEAK AT TECH

Harry Stillwell Edwards Is Chosen for Address on Honor Day.

Harry Stillwell Edwards, of Macon, distinguished Georgia author, was selected yesterday by Georgia Tech as honor day speaker at exercises to be held May 15.

Each year Georgia Tech selects some prominent Georgian to address the throngs which come to the campus annually for honor day. "Tech has chosen Mr. Edwards because of his long record of creative contribution to Georgia literature, and to readers of literature everywhere," the announcement of his selection said.

Honor day exercises this year will be made the most important scholastic day in the school calendar. Heretofore activities on honor day have been confined to the distribution of prizes and other awards, and to the honor day address. This year, however, two additional features, formerly held on separate days, will be included in the program. These are the military exhibition by R. O. T. C. units, and an all-day, open house inspection of Tech facilities by campus visitors. Edwards will speak at the naval armory on the morning of May 15. President M. L. Brittain, of Georgia Tech, will preside.

Theatergoers Warned To Watch for Thieves

Atlanta women theatergoers were warned by police yesterday to look out for seat-titling, purse thief operating exclusively in motion picture houses.

According to Mrs. Ora E. Mullins, record clerk at the detective bureau, a "seat tilter" sits in a theater and waits for a woman to place her purse in the vacant seat in front of him.

Then, while ostensibly watching the attraction on the screen, he uses his foot to tilt the seat. The victim's pocketbook slides to the floor, and at his leisure the thief rifles it and flees.

Several downtown theaters are flashing warnings on their screens daily asking their patrons not to leave valuables in the next seat.

Ushers have also been instructed to be on the lookout for "seat tilters." Mrs. G. F. Connors, 1332 St. Louis place, reported to police yesterday that her purse containing $35 in cash and a diamond bracelet valued at $150, was taken by a "seat tiler" as she watched a show in a downtown theater Tuesday night.

STRAIN

As too heavy a burden wears out a rope, strand by strand, so can poor lighting cause a premature breaking down of human eyesight. The tiny muscles, the delicate nerves so finely attuned and so constantly used in all visual tasks may be strained to the breaking point by inadequate or improper light.

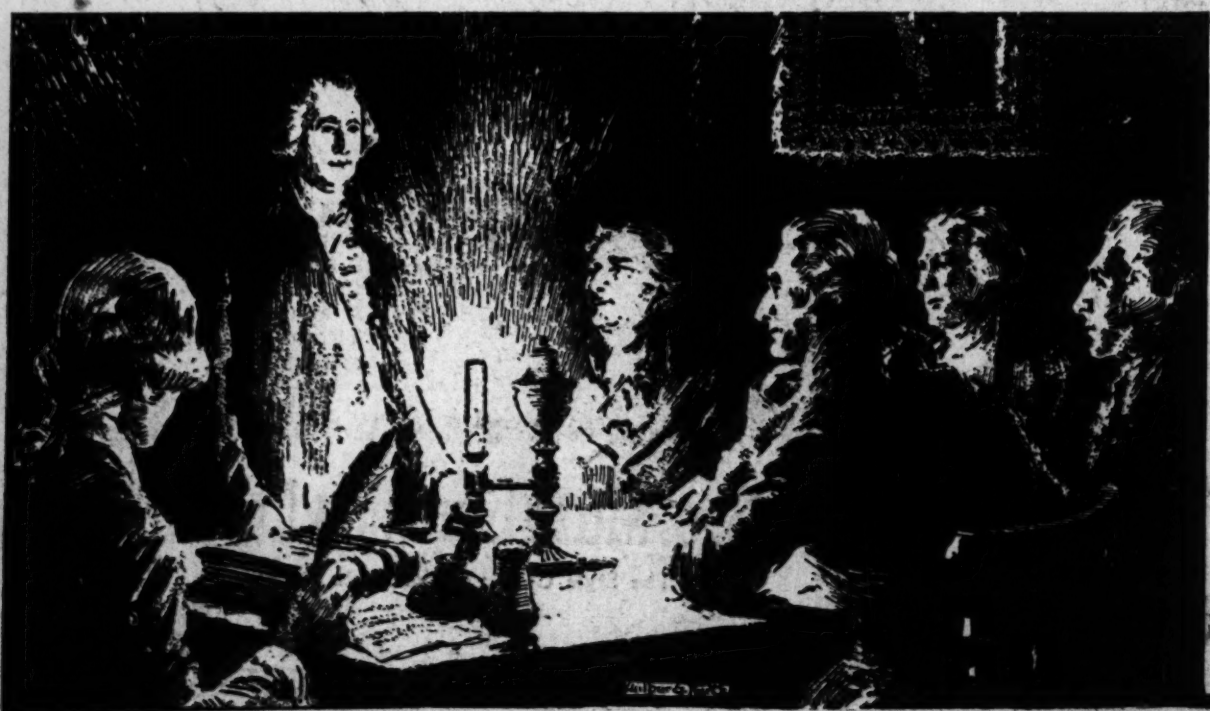

Too often, poor lighting alone is responsible for the tragedy of defective eyesight in one of every five grade school children, of eye trouble in four of every ten students in college. More than half of all people in this country have sight defects by the time they reach 40, and in those of greater age, this proportion is even higher.

Electric light, of course, brought a great improvement in indoor seeing conditions, but even electric light does not in itself mean proper light. Each seeing job requires a different amount of light; more, for instance, is needed for reading than for washing dishes, more for fine sewing than for card playing.

Proper light is relaxing. It helps eyes to do their work comfortably, safely, easily. Softly diffused, glareless, yet of sufficient intensity, good lighting conserves energy and prevents much of the eyestrain that results in fatigue, headaches and sometimes even permanent eye injury.

Our Home Lighting Advisors cannot cure injured eyes—only the eyesight specialist can do that—but they will, skillfully, accurately, check the lighting in your home and give you any suggestions needed for bringing it to a safe standard for reading, sewing, studying. Possibly a simple shade to eliminate glare from a bare bulb is all that is necessary. Or an increase in wattage. Or moving a portable lamp from one place to another in the room. There is no cost or obligation in connection with this service; it's free to any of our electric customers. Just telephone for an appointment.

THE NEW COUNTRY

A meeting of President Washington's first "cabinet." Night after night, by the light of the brightly glowing Carcel Lamp, this solemn group, among them Hamilton and Jefferson, made plans that meant security for the new nation.

The Carcel Lamp, invented by Bertrand Carcel, a Frenchman, was a distinct forward step in the development of artificial light. It had a clockwork mechanism which automatically forced a steady supply of fuel to the wick. The Carcel Lamp is still used as a standard measure of light in France and is similar to the standard candle by which we measure candlepower.

This is Number Seven in a series depicting the history of "Light Through the Ages." 'YOUR FIGURE, MADAME!'

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

It's what you eat that makes you healthy and what you don't eat that makes you slim. Reducing has done a complete about-face turning from starvation diets to scientific food selection, offering a marked contrast to the mass which gave reducing a bad reputation.

The harm which results from reducing is not to be attributed to the weight loss itself, but to the reckless methods employed. Statistics show that excessive overeating is dangerous, and if you are overweight you need not be afraid of reducing. But the key to your method.

Even while reducing, the body requires the same amounts of the protective food elements (protein, minerals, vitamins and water) as on a normal diet. Your calorie cut should be taken only in carbohydrates (sugars and starches) and in fats.

The pointers to slimmest, which contain a list of the protective foods, may be used as a guide in planning your own menu to keep your reducing diet at the highest health level. Any reducing diet which fails to include the essential foods cannot maintain and improve health.

Be sure that your reducing diet provides a sufficient number of calories to take care of the body's internal functioning. This required number of calories, called the basal metabolism, is the number of calories used by the body at rest. You cannot keep well on a starvation diet, for even at complete rest you use calories for breathing, circulation and other body processes. This basal metabolism is affected by individual size, shape and tissue composition.

The average basal metabolism for women ranges from 1,000 to 1,500 calories per day. For this reason, our daily diets are based on 1,200 calories per day, in accordance with the fundamental requirements of the average woman. If your calorie intake does not exceed the number you expend a complete rest, your activity draws on and burns the stored body fat. Some of you with a high basal metabolism will be able to add to the foundation diet and still get slim, but none of you can subtract from it without harm to your health.

Because of the health angle, the medical profession is interested in reducing. Obesity is a health handicap which overtaxes the heart, impedes circulation and increases the burden of kidneys, liver and pancreas.

The easy method of eating all you please and then taking something more to reduce is highly questionable. Before taking anything to include weight loss, ask your doctor about it. His approval usually means that it has been passed by the American Medical Association as safe and sane.

The entire popular conception of reducing has gone conservative. We still reduce to improve appearance, but we are taking no chances with our health, for health is the real basis of beauty.

THERE IS NO SUCH RACE AS THE WHITE RACE

A CAUCASIAN
NATIVE OF BOSNIA

It is an error to speak of the "white race," for none exists. What we usually call the white race is the Caucasian. Many of the peoples of this race are not white at all, but are quite dark. They are widespread in Europe, Asia and Africa. Those in Asia and Africa are often dark-skinned. The Ethiopians are members of the Caucasian race, and Haile Selassie is an excellent example of this African Caucasian stock. The Caucasian race was developed early on the slopes of the Caucasus mountains, and is noted for its physical excellence. Even those called "white" are really pink, or yellowish. Look at yourself.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: It burns me up to hear so much advice handed out to wives about their duty, to be sweet, temperate, well-dressed, well-groomed, to have a steaming hot dinner on the table, the children clean and quiet, the house in order, the evening's entertainment planned and a little bit of heaven prepared on earth for the triumphant entry of the head of the house. Why, when he contributes less than enough to buy bread and meat, food and fuel, should he have such obedience paid to his lordship? Why must the wife, who has worked harder than any servant ever worked and longer hours than any servant and exhausted herself mentally and physically, make a quick change when 6 o'clock comes and pretend that she is playing queen to his king? I say it is an outrage for a man to expect any such homage to be paid him when all he does is put up a paltry few dollars to support his family. I wish you would give the men the works, tell them about their duties, try to show them how when they fall down on their end of the job they haven't much right to expect 100 per cent performance from their wives.

BURN'T-UP.

Answer: Lady, the husband who is loafing on his job, making a paltry amount of money, letting his wife have babies, nurse them, cook, clean and wash for them, run the house without help, has not any right to expect 100 per cent performance on her part. But marriage is a partnership, you know, and if one partner fails to come through this isn't any excuse, the other partner's lying down on the job. Yet it is not so much a question of what the husband expects as it is a question of "what is good for the order."

Of course the wife of a poor man has a hard time of it. Either she has to get out and help with the hauling or stay at home and work like a Turk. No wonder her nerves get frazzled, her temper gets ticklish, no wonder she revolts at the idea of playing flax lady when she is merely a slave. Yet this play-acting is her best chance to keep her marriage from being a wash-out. For no matter how after a failure a man may be in his business, he expects his wife to provide the things that money doesn't buy and the things that poverty needn't destroy.

It is an ominous sign when a wife begins to balance what she contributes with what her husband contributes to their marriage, as one would try to balance a set of business books. Most women are more unselfish and more sacrificial in marriage than men. Because marriage is the woman's game. She presides over the home, creates the atmosphere in it, makes it pleasant or an unpleasant place. The average man who funnels the wherewithal to keep it going thinks he has done his part. He reasons (as we all reason when we have put up our money) that he has something to offer him in return: a comfortable place to live, good food to eat, peace and quietude. The minute he realizes that he isn't getting all of these things he is a resentful man. He doesn't know how much mental and physical labor is necessary to run a house because he is away all day. He has no idea of what it means to nurse babies, run around after toddlers, cook, clean, wash and sew. No doubt he is often unreasonable in his demands, implied or expressed. But that's the way he is; and woe be to the wife who tries to buck nature.

In all probability the husband has not had a picnic in his business. The wife is not the only one that carries a back-breaking load. She has small conception of what it means to hold one's own in the fierce competition of the business world; and scant understanding of the problems of a man who has the responsibility of feeding, clothing and educating a family of children. If he wrestles with these problems all day and then comes home to a vengeful, spiteful wife who is reproaching him for what he hasn't done and complaining of what she has had to do, he gets the works all right, day and night. The result being that they have a hell, instead of a heaven on earth, in which to rear their children.

Yes, the wives of poor men have a hard time, as do the poor men themselves. But there are some women who manage to be good wives and mothers in the midst of poverty and to make their homes small heavens on earth.

Hints That Lead To Chic

BY CONNIE

There is something about a soft clinging chiffon that renews that instinct in man called chivalry—protection of the weak, fragile. And there is something about the lovely new chiffons for evening that makes them irresistibly charming for both the maid and matron.

Pale shades of blue, pink, yellow and green in pastel hue will grace the dance floors this spring, in lovely chiffons that fairly float in the breeze with the slightest movement.

Many of these evening gowns are enhanced by a matching cape of the same chiffon—what could be more romantic?

The dress sketched above is almost ethereal in its loveliness. It is a pale pink chiffon that silhouettes the figure in soft flowing lines. An enormous group of four silk flowers grace the waist—the colors of the flowers being yellow, orange, rust and purple—startling but very effective. The back of this frock is high with a neck to waist slit down the middle.

A cape is the added attraction that completes this charming evening ensemble. It may be bought for about $29.75.

The dress above sketched by The Constitution's style artist may be bought in an Atlanta store. For information call Connie at The Atlanta Constitution, Walnut 6565. Do not write unless you live out of town, then send a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

This Holder Takes the Place of a Napkin.

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

Nancy combined three things in her newest gift idea. She made something practical and good looking; she used up a piece of white linen she had on hand; she provided something salable for the bazaar.

The edge finish is made by placing a row of single crochet close together, and into the edge of cloth to the depth of an eighth inch, approximately. Chain three picot every tenth single crochet.

Direction leaflet for making "Linen Hot-Dish Holder" may be had by sending three cents and enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Nancy Page, care The Atlanta Constitution.

TO OBSERVE ARMY DAY.
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 18. (AP)—Governor Sholtz asked today that Florida citizens observe April 6 as Army Day "by a display of flags on their places of business and at their homes and such other appropriate ceremonies as may be properly arranged."

Every comfort cleverly contrived to make your visit a success. Spacious rooms assure luxurious living, while prompt, cheerful service, tempting cuisine and delightful entertainment are some of the attendant harmonies. The Savoy-Plaza is in the heart of the city, with fine shops, theatres and subway nearby. Single rooms, $5, $6, $7. Double rooms, $7, $8, $9. Suites from $10.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON.
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

The Ancient Question.

The baffling question: "Which is more important, the bidding or the play?" dates from the earliest days of auction bridge. Even as applied to that game it was difficult to answer. What, then, must be the difficulty of finding the true answer at contract, in which precise bidding must be backed up by sound and often brilliant play? Whenever I am asked this standard question I am tempted to paraphrase the old saw and ask in return: "Which is more important, the chicken or the egg?"

Knowing that real weakness in either major department, bidding or play, is fatal to true expertise, I never have had any real interest in trying to determine the superiority of either. What I should like to know, and have some genius tell me, is the reason behind the disparity of bidding and playing skill in the same player. The well-balanced player who, regardless of his class (novice, average, or expert), bids and plays on the same level, is the rarest of the bridge. Even in expert ranks there are lamentably few.

A Grand Slam Is Bristled.

The hand below was bid perfectly to a grand slam. There was no question but that the contract was correct and extremely easy of accomplishment. But it seemed to me that the cards themselves must have groaned at the way declarer handled them.

The bidding:
South West North East
2 spades Pass 3 hearts Pass
4 diamonds Pass 7 diamonds (final bid)

After South's four diamond bid there was no better bid at North's disposal than to jump to seven. It is true that South could have had his opening two bid without the possession of all the necessary key cards, but this was an unavoidable risk. Five diamonds by North undoubtedly would not be dropped, but he would find himself in the same dilemma after a six bid. And it was hardly to be hoped that South could bid the grand slam himself.

The opening lead was the five of diamonds, which declarer allowed to run to the ace in his own hand. This was not fatal, but merely poor technique. But his second lead was plain sailing. He laid down the trump king! Like far too many players, he regarded his own cards with deep affection and dummy's with contempt. So he now proceeded to "set up the spade suit."

He ruffed a small spade in the dummy, discarded a spade and the club queen on the ace and king of hearts, and ruffed a heart. He then ruffed a spade and ruffed another heart. But the heart queen and the spade king still were well guarded, and when one more ruff of a heart established that suit the dummy was without an entry. The spade king had to be conceded for the setting trick.

A superficial analysis of the two hands should guide every player to the correct plan. Dummy's heart suit headed by A-K-J was enormously superior to South's spade suit, in that it was a full trick closer to establishment. It should be noted that both suits broke 5 and 2. Dummy had one less entry than had declarer, yet even with the play of two trumps the hearts could have been established and cashed, whereas the spades could not. The second trump should have been won in dummy and a small heart ruffed. A club discard on the spade ace, two spade ruffs in dummy, and two more heart ruffs would have established every card in the dummy, to which there still would have been a ruffing entry.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: I held the following: Spades Q J 10 8 7 5, Hearts K 10 9 4 3, Diamonds 8, Clubs none. I bid one spade. Was this a bad bid? Answer: It certainly wasn't a good one. Lacking two and one-half honor tricks, you should have passed and bid strongly on succeeding rounds.

FREEMAN QUIZZED ON PRESCRIPTIONS

Doctor on Trial in Federal Court Undergoes Cross-Examination.

Trial of Dr. Jephtha S. Freeman continued before Judge E. Marvin Underwood in United States district court yesterday with Assistant United States Attorney M. Neil Andrews cross-examining the doctor, prescription by prescription on the thousand or more he has issued to drug addicts.

Dr. Freeman is charged with having illegally issued prescriptions for narcotic drugs. Andrews will continue his cross-examination today, while next door, before Judge C. B. Keenan, Dr. Thomas G. Cunningham and Mrs. De Lamar, Atlanta pharmacist, will be placed on trial on charges of failing to submit proper records on drugs to the government.

United States District Attorney Lawrence S. Camp will prosecute Dr. Cunningham and De Lamar. William Schley Howard will defend Dr. Cunningham and Frank Doughman will defend De Lamar.

The Freeman case threatens to last through next week. Hal Lindsay, chief defense counsel, said yesterday that he intends to put approximately 20 Atlanta physicians on the stand as expert witnesses.

I Ate What I Liked... Fat Slipped Away

It was so easy—I did not go on a diet. I took no exercise. I did not weaken my body with drastic purgatives. Yet fat slipped away. Each day I felt myself growing lighter, more slender. Now my figure is lovely, graceful. And I never felt better in my life.

That, in brief, is what thousands who have reduced the Marmola way might well tell you. Four times a day they take a little tablet containing the right quantity of a world-famous corrective for abnormal obesity.—A corrective prescribed by physicians everywhere and acknowledged to be the most effective known.

Since 1907, more than 20 million packages of Marmola have been purchased. Could any better recommendation be had?

Today—buy a package of Marmola, and start at once. Soon you will experience Marmola's benefits. When you have gone far enough, stop taking Marmola. And you will bless the day you first discovered this marvelous reducing agent!

Marmola is on sale by dealers everywhere—from coast to coast.

Miss Mather's Address Features Session of B. W. M. U. Convention

By MRS. S. L. ASTIN, State Chairman of Publicity, Georgia B. W. M. U.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 18.—Today's sessions of the Georgia Baptist Women's Missionary Union convention now assembled here attracted interested delegates and visitors from far and near as was evidenced by the overflow crowds and marked attention manifested throughout the day and evening.

Miss Juliette Mather, of Birmingham, Ala., southside young people's secretary, was guest speaker on the morning program. As usual the audience was swayed by her personal magnetism as well as her profound sincerity. Miss Mather said, "W. M. U. widens the circle of one's friends until, becoming acquainted with all the world, one prays and gives that the whole world may be girdled with His friendliness."

The statistical report of the corresponding secretary-treasurer, Miss Mary Christian, recounted glorious fulfillment of the 1935 program, stating total gifts $173,918.67, which amount exceeded the goal of $165,000 by $8,918.67. The figure also included gifts to foreign missions for the Little Moon offering $14,688.93; to state missions $6,241.50, and to home missions $7,946.35. There were reported 45,106 members and 3,016 organizations.

Miss Christian paid beautiful tribute to Mrs. A. F. McMahon, former secretary of the Georgia union, by saying "Your corresponding secretary-treasurer for the first six months of 1935 was Mrs. A. F. McMahon. Though she was unable after March 31 to be at her place of duty, her serious illness, in the three months of service she rendered in 1935, as well as in the 10 years before, she planted the seed that you and I and other 'Appolos' will continue to water and God will give the increase."

The brilliant address of the president, Mrs. Ben S. Thompson, lifted the audience to a high peak of spiritual interest as she spoke earnestly on the subject, "Divinely Commissioned." Resembling at 2 o'clock the meeting was opened for miscellaneous business, the plan of work for 1938 being presented for discussion by Miss Mary Christian, corresponding secretary-treasurer. Upon her recommendation the body voted to accept an apportionment of $170,000 and to set October 7 as the date for state mission season of prayer.

Work of two departments, Margaret Fund and the W. M. U. training school, was presented by the chairmen, Mrs. D. Talmage Ellis, of Macon, and Mrs. J. C. Lanier, of West Point. Mrs. C. A. Hantman, of Dawson, was heard in a brief message.

Dr. O. P. Gilbert, editor of the Christian Index, official publication of the Georgia Baptist Convention, in one of the outstanding addresses of the three-day meeting, said, "Direction determines destiny." He quoted Lord Balfour when asked for the secret of success by the then youthful Winston Churchill, as saying, "Direction." Multitudes fall for a clear-cut aim.

Special music by Mrs. James Lott, of Americus, assisted by the Besie Tift quartet, with Mrs. S. W. Fleming, of Thomasville, as accompanist, was a feature of the afternoon session.

The address by Dr. James W. Merritt, executive secretary-treasurer Georgia Baptist Convention, possibly the best informed person at the present time as to the exact status of Georgia Baptist affairs, made a profound impression in the closing address of the afternoon. "Southern Baptists Commissioned to a World Task." Among the statistical figures quoted by Dr. Merritt was the total gifts of Georgia Baptist to all causes during 1935 as $302,111.60, which represented an increase of $41,868.52 over the preceding year. Dr. Merritt also stated that the deficit of $120,339.54 existing at the close of 1932 had been reduced to $17,287.15 with every reason to hope and believe that this amount will be retired during 1938.

A reception at the Glen Arden Country Club in the late afternoon was a charming courtesy extended the convention of Baptist women by the members of other denominations in Thomasville.

My Day

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C.—I am sure that everyone has been going around with a lighter heart today after reading that Hitler has agreed to join the League in the discussions about the present European situation.

I have always felt that in a tense situation, if time could be given for everyone to discuss what was going on before actually going to war, we might come to our senses. Most of us were taught as children to count to 30 before we opened our mouths when we were angry, and that same lesson should apply to nations.

No one denies that the Versailles treaty was unjust in many ways, and that revisions should be made. It is quite evident, however, that Germany has ignored the agreements under the Locarno pacts, but it seems more profitable to talk this over than to fight it out again to an unsatisfactory finish and to have another peace built on revenge and fears.

France remembers previous invasions in this century, and no one can blame her for wanting to feel secure. There never was a time, however, when other nations were as ready to see her point of view as they are today.

But there is a tendency also to try to be fairer to all concerned, so let us pray that a spirit of fairness and friendliness to all will actuate the League's deliberations.

This has been a busy day. A ride this morning; luncheon with the ladies of the senate; a visit to a rather remarkable exhibit of the Holy Land in miniature carved by hand and moved by electricity. It is being shown for the benefit of the Children's hospital.

After an hour's meeting at the Women's National Democratic Club, I went to a bazaar given by the Newspaper Women's Club, which is also a benefit for the Children's hospital.

This is our thirty-first wedding anniversary, and so we are having two or three old friends and my mother-in-law, who arrives this evening, for dinner.

BIEN JOLI HOLDS BRADLEY HOPES FOR FIFTH WIN

Colonel and Fitzsimmons
Sure To Furnish Derby
Thrills Again.

By Orlo Robertson.
NEW YORK, March 18.—(AP)—E. R. Bradley, whose name is almost synonymous with the Kentucky Derby, and James Fitzsimmons, veteran trainer, again figure to play important roles in the renewal of the three-year-old classic at Churchill Downs, May 2. Between them, they have won four of the last six renewals. Fitzsimmons saddled William Woodward's Gallant Fox in 1930 and the Fox's son, Omaha, last year. Bradley's silks came through in 1932 and 1933 aboard Burgo King and Broker's Tip.
The Kentucky sportsman also finished one-two with Behave Yourself and Black Servant in 1921 and again in 1926 with Bubbling Over and Bagenbagger.
Numerically, Fitzsimmons outranks Bradley this year. He had named eight colts from three stables for the event with at least four rated a good chance. In contrast, the Kentuckian has only three eligibles and only one of them rated serious consideration.
Bradley is relying on Bien Joli to give him his fifth victory. The colt is now at the Idle Hour farm, near Lexington, going through his preliminary paces under the eye of H. J. (Derby Dick) Thompson, who trained all four of Bradley's winners.
Bien Joli, a favorite of his owner, is by Blue Larkspur, rated by H. J. as the greatest horse he ever bred. As a two-year-old, Bien Joli started 14 times, won three races and earned $8,425.

BREAK O'DAY!

Last time the Detroit ball club had holdout trouble 'twas Tyrus Raymond Cobb who made it.

That was in 1913. And now, 23 years later, Hank Greenberg comes along to cause some more.

But he will have to get into action if he wishes to make as much of his refusal to sign as did the Georgia Peach. Now, there was a holdout.

It was April 26 before Ty Cobb signed his Detroit contract. The league had been playing baseball for some time.

The day Cobb broke in he got two hits, handled two chances and once went from first to third on an infield out. Cobb got an ovation from the fans as he walked back to the bench and put the old glare on Frank Navin, the owner.

But the row leading up to the signing makes Hank Greenberg look like a Little Lord Fauntleroy. Ty Cobb gave them a battle. He organized the "Cobb Holdouts" and the team barnstormed the south, playing exhibition games.

An automobile manufacturer in Chicago offered Cobb $15,000 and an automobile to become a salesman and Cobb was all set to accept the offer. He would have, too. He said he would stay in Augusta until Frank Navin asked him to come to Detroit. And he did. It was Navin who capitulated.

Before that there had been statements and counter-statements. Cobb declared he was not owned "body and soul" by the Detroit club. Navin charged Cobb with being unwilling to take discipline, pointing out Cobb had punched fans in the nose, cussed hotel men for bad rooms and been very independent of the management. Hughie Jennings said, "We don't need Cobb."

But they did.

SALARIES—OLD AND NEW.
Cobb had played for $2,500 in 1906. In 1909 he was making just $4,500.

In 1913 he was asking for $15,000.

And he then was admitted to be the greatest baseball player in the world.

(Less than two decades later Babe Ruth was drawing $80,000 per season.)

Detroit was offering $12,500. Cobb got his $15,000, plus a bonus for hitting a certain figure. Which he did.

Hank Greenberg today is asking $40,000 per season and has been offered $25,000. Which is just an illustration of how salaries and baseball values have increased. Ty Cobb, voted almost unanimously as the greatest player the game ever knew, never was in the big baseball money.

Yet he is reported to be worth well over $1,000,000 today. He salted it away. In 1913 he had enough to thumb a nose at the Detroit management.

GREENBERG'S POSITION.

Greenberg's position has its humorous side.

He was named the most valuable player in the American league. So, he wants to be paid for it. It isn't an unreasonable request, baseball values being what they are.

He feels himself the successor to Babe Ruth as baseball's outstanding slugger. So he wants some money which resembles that which Ruth made.

If he gets it, he will be paid more than Mickey Cochrane receives. And the other players would be fit to be tied, so to speak. They already are having their money troubles. Al Simmons was brought in at big money and the Tigers, never a high-priced club, are a bit jealous.

The word is that Hank Greenberg will play for $25,000 or not at all.

Should he be paid $40,000 the Tigers would be grousing all year at their smaller salaries.

Greenberg may not want to toss $25,000 out the window, but he's in a position to stay out. It's a question of will power.

And he has quite a lot to go before he matches Ty Cobb's holdout record of 1913.

THE BASEBALL "TRUST."

It was during Ty Cobb's long holdout spree that a congressman from Illinois introduced a bill to investigate the baseball "trust."

It will be interesting some day to see what the supreme court will rule on baseball. The present contract never has been carried to the highest courts.

It is a curious contract. Under it the player who signs becomes the property of the club. If he refuses to play for the salary offered, he is liable to suspension for one year. He cannot play with any other ball club in organized baseball. He has no rights at all—absolutely none. If his contract is for one year only, he still is on the "reserve list" and no other club can touch him.

All the contractual rights are with the owners.

Some day a ball player will take a contract fight all the way up.

When the decision comes, it will be interesting.

"NECESSARY NOISE."

The Memphis baseball club was threatened with an injunction by a hospital located near the ball park if they attempted night baseball.

Now it has been agreed the club can play night ball but games must end by 10 o'clock. Which is a good rule, hospital or not.

But had Mr. Tom Watkins known, there was a legal decision which he could have used to fight the injunction. In 1913 a lower court in California, deciding a case against a hospital, ruled that baseball rooting was "a necessary noise."

NOBLE AND UPRIGHT JUDGE.

Most famous of all decisions is the one handed down by an Oklahoma court a few years ago.

An umpire sued for damages, claiming he had been slandered when a baseball writer referred to him as a robber.

The court held that the words "robber and thief" were the usual words hurled at a baseball umpire, that they were a part of the game, and therefore he was not liable for damages.

POLE VAULT.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., March 18.—On the shoulders of Bill Sheridan, a four-letter man as a high school athlete, will fall the pole vaulting duties of the University of Alabama track team.

A week ago Sheridan had a worthy running mate in Hubert Clements, but a broken elbow suffered in spring grid work put Clements out of the picture.

CAMPUS CHAMPS.

CLINTON, S. C., March 18.—The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity captured the campus basketball title at Presbyterian College when they defeated the Kappa Alpha by the score of 20 to 5. The tournament had been going on for a week and a half with eight teams, representing six national fraternities, and two dormitories in the play.

BARON ROOKIES TIE REGULARS IN SIX INNINGS

Braun, George Steal Show in Short Game.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 18.—(AP)—Two rookie southpaws, Ralph Braun and Charlie George, stole the show here this afternoon as the Baron rookies and regulars played a six-inning 4-4 tie.

George held the regulars scoreless for his three innings, after walking the bases full in the first inning.

Braun held the rookies to two hits for a similar period of duty.

James Is Star In Chick Practice.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 18.—(AP)—Influenced by three Chick regulars out of the camp training game today as Jimmy Powell, Babe Benning and Clay Touchstone reported on the sick list. They are expected to be able to go again, however, within the next few days.

The Chick hitters got to six rookie pitchers for 27 hits in the training contest. Norman "Pinkie" James, outfielder, led the slugging with four hits out of five trips to the plate.

Joe Dwyer Joins Vol Squad.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 18.—(AP)—Delayed several days by high waters in Pennsylvania, Joe Dwyer, outfielder, finally arrived in the Nashville Vol training camp today to complete the club roster.

Manager Lance Richbourg said he would send a couple of rookie hurlers, John Intlekofer and Kep Saurburn, against the New York Giants in an exhibition game tomorrow.

Smokies Kept Idle By Snow.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 18.—(AP)—Kept from practice by a slushy snow that covered the playing field, members of the Knoxville club sat around hotel lobbies today hoping for a break in the weather by tomorrow.

Manager Jess Petty, whose one ambition is to lead the Smokies out of the cellar this year, said a regular yannigan game will be played Sunday if the squad and in price.

The Smokies open their exhibition seasons Friday with the House of David nine.

Indians Troupe Pelicans, 14 to 8.

NEW ORLEANS, March 18.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians today trounced the New Orleans Pelicans, 14 to 8, in a hard-hitting exhibition game.

Two of Cleveland's 19 hits were home runs by Earl Averill and Roy Hughes.

Manager Larry Gilbert, of the Pels, announced the conditions of release of Catcher Fernandez and Pitcher Hardin.

Atlanta Boxers Lose In Memphis Tourney

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 18.—(AP)—Veteran fight fans of Memphis were carried back into the dim past of ring wars to fight as they watched young Bob Breslin, of Pensacola, Fla., batter his opponent into submission just as his famous dad, Jack Britton, used to do.

Thomas Watts, of Memphis, 157, middleweight, knocked out Taylor White, of Athens, Ala., 156, in the first round.

Other winners in the A. A. U. meet:

James Roy 123, Athens, Ala., defeated Emmet Rice 123, Memphis, 123, technical knockout, first round; Felix Stevens, Nashville, 134, defeated Ed Jones, Memphis, 134, Rayburn Medlock, Little Rock, 135, defeated Red Maxie, New Albany, Miss., 137; Ray Maxie, New Albany, 141, defeated Danny Sikes, Memphis, 140; Ed White, Pensacola, defeated Bruce Dean, Atlanta, 145; Dan Ferguson, Memphis, 150, defeated Edie Conner, Lenoireville, Ark., 149; Murray Spencer, Nashville, 156, defeated Jack Pillington, Athens, 171; Herman Wooten, 193, defeated Leonard Pickard, Atlanta, 198.

Babe Ruth Beaten In Belleair Meet

BELLEAIR, Fla., March 18.—(UP)—Babe Ruth today developed into his own worst enemy as he laid himself three stymies in meeting defeat, 4 and 3, in the second round of the Belleair amateur tournament.

Ruth, medalist by a six-stroke lead over the field two days ago, was eliminated by Guy Berner, Buffalo, N. Y. His defeat left the tournament wide open.

BERMUDA TENNIS.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 18.—(AP)—The quarter-final matches of the annual Bermuda tennis championships were postponed today because of a heavy rain.

No Hits, No Assets, Discharge Granted

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 18.—(UP)—Federal Judge John D. Martin is also president of the Southern Baseball Association. Today he granted F. A. Reginald final discharge from bankruptcy.

In the words:

"No hits, no runs, no errors and no assets. Discharge approved."

Baby Star Gives You Lesson in Grip and Backswing

Whitaker Holds Lead Among Cracker Hitters

Rookie Outfielder Gets Six for Seven; Not Flashy, But He's "Talk of Camp."

By Jack Troy.

GULFPORT, Miss., March 18.—A famous baseball scout, whose name will not be mentioned, sat in the stands one day last summer watching a semi-pro game in North Carolina.

He was impressed by the power at the plate and the ability in the field of a rangy young outfielder. He recommended him to the Crackers, saying that the opposing team could not get him out. And that they could not hit anything past him.

And so today that same young recruit, a native of Landis, N. C., is the talk of the Crackers camp. His name is Charles Whitaker, and so far pitchers of the Bogalusa, semi-pros, the New York Giants, and even the members of his own squad have been unable to get him out.

NOT FLASHY.

Whitaker is the sort of player who does not stand out. He is as consistent as the day is long. But he is not to be associated with the flashy, colorful type of player. He can go and get any ball that is hit reasonably near his territory. And he can hit. He is a very powerful right-handed hitter.

His record in the spring games, including today's intra-camp exhibition, is six hits in seven times at bat. That is pretty fair country hitting, considering that he got hits off both Carl Hubbell and Elmer Marberry in the Giant exhibition game.

The Crackers were able to get only two hits off Marberry, who was truly bearing down. Nig Lipscomb got the other one.

COMES THROUGH.

President Earl Mann was watching Whitaker do his stuff today. The Yannigans, or Blue Birds, had two men on base and Mann pulled for the next hitter to get a walk so he could see Whitaker bat with the pressure on. Well, the hitter walked.

A wild pitch let in one of the runners. Then Whitaker hit a Texas leaguer, scoring the other two. He seems to do very well under pressure.

It may be that Whitaker will not stick with the Crackers this season. It is his first year out in professional ball.

But the puzzling question being asked here is: How're you gonna keep him down on the farm?

The Landis, N. C. boy is a great prospect.

TWO HOME RUNS FEATURE GAME; ANOTHER TODAY

Error by Rookie in Fourth Enables "Varsity" To Score Tying Run.

By Jack Troy.

GULFPORT, Miss., March 18.—The Crackers, bouncing back from their first major league exhibition, played the first intracamp game of the season this afternoon.

Starting time of practice also was changed today because of the weather. It was too cool and windy this morning, so Manager Eddie Moore started his charges working at high noon.

They worked until after 4 o'clock. The four-inning game resulted in a 4-to-4 tie. Dick Niehaus' Blue Birds were leading the regulars in the fourth, but a missed throw in the regulars' half enabled them to score the tying run.

It was quite a battle, with home runs being hit on both sides. Charles Whitaker opened the scoring for the Blue Birds by belting a home run almost to the fence in right in the second inning. Chester Long, the Batesville, Miss., rookie right-hander, was pitching.

REGULARS RETALIATE.

The regulars retaliated in their half of the same inning by putting two men on the bases and taking the lead when little Buster Chatham hammered a home run off the delivery of Almon Williams.

Al Browne and Jim Galvin, who caught for the regulars, singled in succession and Chatham, who hits the ball as hard as most big men, drove them home. His home run went to dead center and rolled almost to the far-away fence.

This show of offensive strength sent the Blue Birds on the wing in the next inning. Trailing, 3 to 1, they took the lead again.

There were two away when they went to work on Long. Noel Tierce forced Wayne Black, who had singled, at second. Stanley Bach and Lloyd Javet drew walks, filling the bases. Whitaker came up and there was the likely prospect he might clean base. Long, however, delivered a wild pitch and Tierce scored in a walk.

TEXAS LEAGUER.

Whitaker then hit a Texas leaguer to right center, scoring Bach and

INSTALLMENT XVI

"No letters from Richmond, Va.," asked Buck.

She shook her head. Sandy queried: "Nothing from St. Louis?"

Again a negative. Buck named Pittsburgh, Chicago, Minneapolis. The girl responded to none of them.

"It was a long, long time before he wrote me. The letter came from New Orleans."

"Under white date?" asked Sandy Ross, attempting to hide an excess of curiosity.

"I can't remember. I was mad at him for not having written me. Besides, I thought he was just going through there. I'd rather mused up the envelope in opening it and tore the flap. It was nice stationery with the name of the store embossed—you know how they do it—on the envelope. It showed the stationery came from Billings, Mont., and it made me angry to think he was running around all over the country when things were going so bad at home. . . . She paused as the agents glanced at each other. "Did something happen in Billings?"

"Nothing. Nothing at all."

"Then maybe it's just a coincidence that he was in New York and got that car. Maybe. . . ."

"It could happen," the inspector answered. "But I'm afraid it didn't. You see, something happened in New Orleans. And Philadelphia."

"And fellows looking for work don't carry machine guns, Jane."

"No, they wouldn't do that." The girl's lips were trembling; the Special Agents waited in silence until she had won her fight for composure. At last she said with a ghastly sort of calm: "I . . . I don't seem able to realize that I'm sitting here, telling on my own brother."

Buck rose and began to pace, his short, round legs moving nervously. "Yes, and we have to ask questions about a girl's brother, Jane. But it's either a matter of stopping him now when maybe he's just playing the fool instead of waiting until he turns into a mad dog."

"As for him deserving any blind loyalty. . . . There Sandy halted an outbreak of resentment which had grown steadily during the night; unconsciously Jane Bronson had given an all too faithful picture of what had happened in the little house on the hill, that night in Vinton City. Time after time she had sought to shield the self-centered object of this inquiry, she had quoted him, not knowing that she was painting his traits, his selfishness, his lack of love for her. Nevertheless she now came quickly to his defense:

"Oh, I know we've never gotten along. But I always figured it was because Dad died when Lee was so young. And then Mom went—and no boy likes to be saddled with a sister. So naturally, he ran around and got linked up with. . . . She caught the faint suggestion of a cynical smile on the lips of Sandy Ross.

"I guess you hear that lots of times," the girl concluded. Buck Wasey returned to his chair.

"I'm afraid we do." Then, as Sandy Ross looked out at the brightening day, he continued: "What happened, Jane, after you left Reno?"

"Well, we drove right through the night until we got to Salt Lake. I kept asking him where we were going. He said we weren't stopping until we got back east."

"Where in the east?"

"He wouldn't say. That's what started us quarreling. You see, he had promised to go home with me—back to Kansas City—but within two or three hours after we'd started, he began talking about the east and how fine it would be to live back there—it was perfectly silly. Then at Salt Lake, he sent a telegram and . . ."

"Where to, Jane?" Sandy broke in.

"He said New York."

Buck wrinkled his brow in disbelief.

"Then what?" continued Sandy.

"We drove on out of town and stayed at a tourist camp. We were quarreling a lot now, because he acted so strange. Maybe, he smiled weakly, 'that's where I left that dress and hat and shoes'."

"And stockings?" Buck suggested.

"I hadn't noticed that. Why do you think I lost stockings, too?"

"Nothing," Buck shrugged his shoulders.

"What about that box—the one he said was full of gold ore?"

Again there was a silence, while Jane Bronson stared at her sweating palms.

"What became of him?" asked Sandy.

"Where did he go?"

"Janners scratched the back of his neck.

"That's just the trouble. He paid in advance. That night, an expressman came for his baggage and the man wasn't seen again."

"What's the expressman say about that?"

Mason entered the conversation.

"I checked that. There seems to be a woman in this somewhere. The expressman says he never saw any man resembling Ray Hammer."

"Bronson, eh? Brother of that girl or her husband?"

"Brother."

Janners re-entered the conversation.

"There's something screwy some where. He must have a wife, or another sister." Then: "You tell it, Mason."

"I rode this expressman pretty hard," the second agent continued. "Thought maybe Hammer—or Bronson—had slipped him a wad of dough not to talk. But he stuck to his story. Said a woman came to him and gave him the key to room 20 at the Weston. That was Hammer's room. The expressman got a carpenter's case out of it and a bag. Took them to the station. It was night. The east and west trains pass here. The girl took the bags, seemed to be fairly strong, the expressman said. She carried them away and he doesn't know what train she took."

"Lead Bronson down at the station?" Janners spoke up.

"Yes, and bought a ticket for New York. I figure this woman gave him the stuff after he got aboard."

Sandy's eyes had narrowed.

"How was this woman dressed? Blue hat? Blue shoes? Red dress with blue figures in it?"

The special agents started.

"Why yes. And sand-colored stockings. Have you got a line on her?"

Ross answered only with a command on it. And hurry.

"Tear for the railroad station. Check on that woman. See if she bought a ticket anywhere. Look up an in-bound telegram, addressed to Marge Brown. Find it, where it came from and from what station it was filed. Tell that station agent to hold the wire open until he gets all the dope on it. And hurry."

The special agents rushed for a near-by car. Sandy meshed gears and hurried on, his brain a turmoil. If his story was correct, Lee Bronson now stood revealed as something far more dangerous than a mere, unruly, selfish young man who had merely become embroiled in gangsterism.

Of course, it was possible that there was another woman in all this and that Lee Bronson had brought to her the blue hat, the blue shoes, and the red dress which he had stolen from his sister, but the chance was slight. Rather, Sandy figured, there had been a change of costume in Bronson's room, the use of a wig and cosmetics which he carried in his own bag, a stealthy departure at night when the clerk was not looking and—

Sandy had reached the hotel. Hastily he parked and went within.

"Has room 20 been occupied since a man named Ray Hammer used it, a couple of days ago?"

The clerk consulted the old-fashioned register.

"No, it hasn't."

Again the inspector showed his credentials.

"I want to examine it."

Willingly the clerk reached for the key.

"Sorry, but I'm afraid you won't find anything there. It's been cleaned up, of course, since Mr. Hammer was in there."

Sandy acknowledged the possibility, but he went upstairs nevertheless. Once in the room, he gave no attention to the possibility of fingerprints; it already had been established that the wanted man had stayed here. He now was looking for evidence of a different sort.

Quickly he brought forth a pocket microcosm, small but powerful, and went to the dressing table. There he began a minute examination of the surface, the edge of the mirror and particularly the linen runner, which Sandy, at a glance, knew had not been changed or laundered in weeks. Results came swiftly. He called the clerk. A moment later, the surprised man entered, holding a pen. Sandy marked the runner with his initials and handed the pen to the clerk for a like action. The clerk for wrapping paper and a twine.

JOCKEY TO FACE TRIAL IN MARDI GRAS KILLING

NEW ORLEANS, March 18.—(AP) Diminutive Jack O'Day, 26-year-old free lance jockey, must stand trial for murder in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Estelle Hughes, 29, a beer parlor hostess, grim climax to a gay Mardi Gras party.

The jockey was indicted by the Orleans parish grand jury yesterday.

The body of Mrs. Hughes was found by a patrolman at a railroad station as dawn broke over the debris-littered city after its annual day and night of revelry. A short distance away, police found O'Day's automobile, blood-stained and with an automatic pistol with one bullet discharged therein.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

THE JAPANESE EMPIRE. IV—Trouble With Russia.

Japan has been building a larger empire during the past 30 years, and most of the increase has been on the mainland of Asia. People in other lands wonder when will be the next step, and they try to figure the reasons.

China has been, thus far, an easy foe for the Japanese to drive back, but this would not be true if Japan had to fight with Russia. There have been border clashes between Japanese and Russians, and some have feared the outbreak of war.

Russia has the largest army among the nations of the world, and it has one of the leading air fleets. The railway line across Siberia has been much improved, and it would not be so hard to send soldiers across between Japan and Russia as it was 32 years ago.

Japan has a good-sized navy, a far stronger one than Russia's. That would give the Japanese control of the sea, but probably it would not block raids on Tokyo, Osaka and other cities. Airplanes could speed from Siberia to points over Japan, and might do great damage. The Japanese do not seem so skillful in air fighting as in land fighting.

No matter who might be the "winner," a war with Russia would bring horror to Japan. I feel sure that the plain people of Japan would rather follow the ways of peace.

Riddles, games and puzzles will be found in the "Funmaker" leaflet. If you would like a copy send a stamped return envelope to me in care of The Constitution.

NEW YORK, March 18.—(AP)—

Points in railroad lines of fractions to 3 points featured the bond market today.

Other sections of the list were generally steady on quiet turnover. Gains were in the majority in the United States government division, while among the foreign, Italian loans were pushed up abruptly.

The buying of carriers was stimulated to some extent by advances of 3 points each scored by Missouri-Kansas-Texas 4 1/2s at 107 3/4 and the Series "B" 6s at 67. The adjustment was finished with a rise of 1 1/4 to 107 1/2.

Other railroads went forward fractionally higher, with the Chesapeake and Potomac Electric 5 1/2s at 120 1/2 and St. Paul 5s at 120 1/2.

The United States government second 4 1/2s at 107 3/4 and St. Paul 5s at 120 1/2 were marked by an uptick of 3/4 in the old 2 1/2s to 102 1/2.

While the new 2 1/2s at one time sold at 102 1/2, they had since slipped to 102 1/4. Other treasuries closed 2 1/2s higher to 4 1/2s lower.

Auburn convertible 4 3/4s bumped yesterday's rise of 1 1/4 and ended the session with a loss of 1 1/4 at 107 1/2.

Manitowish 7 1/2s at 107 1/2 showed a drop of 1/2 point in reliable quarters abroad that sanctions against Italy were abandoned served to give a sharp bump to Italian 5 1/2s at 102 1/2.

In terms of the Associated Press averages ranging to up 2 of a point to 102 1/2 and industrials were 1 1/2 higher at 102 1/2. Utilities were unchanged and foreign a shade lower.

Market Outlook

By MAX BUCKINGHAM. (Copyright 1936 by United Press.) NEW YORK, March 18.—(UP)—

The stock market moved in a dull, nervous rut today—losses in steel and rubber, gains in oil and sugar.

Traders withdrew to analyze the flood damage and to await news from Europe.

The market was quiet from the outset and then dropped to losses of around a point or more. Floor traders said there was a "psychological" slump.

The catastrophe to the great industrial region in Pennsylvania was showing a slight improvement after years of depression. Steel operations were picking up added to the total that had swelled production.

With plants shut down because of floods and millions of dollars of other damage, there may be more market nerve.

The force of the flood disaster became known, Wall Street was fairly optimistic. The tenor of news from abroad was demand for steel and sugar.

Electric power production gained 100 per cent over the corresponding 1935 week, the best since 1923.

Gasoline demand improved. Private estimates were that retail trade for Easter would be the best in about five years.

BRITAIN TO SPEAK ON NATIONAL FORESTS

The use of southern national forests as playgrounds will be discussed by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, and W. P. Kramer, assistant regional forester, southern region of the United States Forest Service, in the fourth program of the southern foresters' series to be broadcast from station WGST at 3:20 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mr. Kramer will tell how the forest service manages the national forests so that the public may use them freely for camping, fishing, hunting, and picnicking without interfering with the production of timber. Dr. Brittain will discuss the importance of this work from an educational and social standpoint.

President Roosevelt Summons
Allen, Lovett to Warm Springs

State Campaign Manager and Chairman of Advisory Committee Will Confer With Chief Executive When He Stops Saturday at Georgia Home.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, March 18.—On the eve of his departure tomorrow for a brief vacation in Florida, President Roosevelt today dispatched telegrams to the leaders of his campaign organization in Georgia asking that they meet him at Warm Springs Saturday for a conference.

The telegrams were sent to Marion Allen, of Milledgeville, manager of the Roosevelt campaign headquarters now functioning in Atlanta, and Judge A. B. Lovett, of Savannah, chairman of the Roosevelt state advisory committee.

Mr. Roosevelt will leave Washington tomorrow night for the Florida vacation, stopping over at his Warm Springs, Ga., home for 24 hours before proceeding on. Evidently he desired to talk over the Georgia situation with Manager Allen and Judge Lovett while in the state, an official explanation of the conference having been made.

The President is known to be gratified over reports furnished him regarding political developments in the state and is said to have no concern over the ability of his friends to send a Roosevelt-instructed delegation to the Philadelphia national convention in the event a preferential primary is called. He has been represented as particularly pleased at the overwhelming support given him in the two primaries held in Seminole and Harris counties, Georgia delegation members.

The feeling here is that if an undertaking of that kind is pursued there will be nothing left for the President's friends to do but initiate county action, looking to the calling of a state convention which in turn would name a slate of delegates more acceptable to the President.

In a questionnaire of what children like on the radio, the main subjects they said they would like more of were sports, science, and stories about nature.

HOLDUPS, SHOOTING
SOLVED BY ARRESTS

Negro's Confession Involves 2 Others in Wounding of Grocer, Say Police.

Three negroes, one of whom is alleged to have confessed to the shooting of Harry Mink, Fort street grocer, in a holdup February 22, were arrested by Detectives Fred Battle and J. W. Cody yesterday afternoon.

The trio gave their names as Will Barnes, 19, of an Auburn avenue address; Elmo Brown, of a Crescent avenue address; and Joseph Brown, of 72 Jackson street. They were arrested by the officers at the intersection of Piedmont and Auburn avenues after a city-wide search of several weeks.

Barnes is said to have admitted shooting Mink when he resisted an attempted robbery of his grocery store at 273 Fort street, and to have implicated his two companions in the holdup. Mink lingered at the point of death for several weeks.

Barnes is said to have also admitted and implicated his companions in the robbery March 7 of J. A. Fowler, operator of a restaurant at 90 Hilliard street, and the holdup of Henry Johnson, negro cab driver, March 8. He also is alleged to have confessed taking part in a gun battle with Will Finellen, grocer at 530 Houston street, and Finellen's father in an attempted holdup of their store March 14.

Police said last night they believed the trio was responsible for a long series of holdups and burglaries here. All persons who have been held up recently by three young negroes with automatics were requested by police headquarters. All three are being held without bond on charges of suspicion of robbery.

LEIGH QUITS SENATOR'S RACE. WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—The conclusion by Randolph Leigh, of McLean, Va., that he could not "even come near" defeating Senator Carter Glass led the field clear today to the veteran Virginian for democratic renomination. Leigh abandoned his campaign he started last summer to unseat Glass.

BIDS ARE ADVERTISED ON PWA SCHOOL WORK

Dormitories for 3 Colleges Listed as First Jobs To Be Let.

Contractors are being asked today to submit bids on three of the projects that will start the actual expansion of the University System of Georgia through the aid of funds from the federal Public Works Administration.

Advertisement for the bids was announced yesterday at the offices of J. L. Johnston, state director of the PWA, who is working with the State Board of Regents to provide adequate facilities for the steady increase in enrollments of the state's schools.

Bids called for today will cover the construction of dormitories at the Georgia Southern College, at Americus; the State Teachers and Agricultural College, at Forsyth; and the Middle Georgia College, at Cochran.

To Be Opened April 3. The bids will be opened at the office of the Board of Regents, in the state capital, at noon, April 3.

The building program will be financed by a 45 per cent grant from the PWA and the rest of the money from the state. Nine other projects are listed in the entire program, calling for the expenditure of $27,000,000 and bids will be asked in succeeding days.

Each of the three dormitories in this bidding have been approved for allotments of $11,250 each, the state contributions increasing the total to approximately $25,000.

The American and Forsyth dormitories will be new and will house 50 students each. At Cochran, the work will be the completion of a building started several years ago, designed to house 100 students. The release of the state funds was announced several days ago.

Derivative projects, for which bids will be asked later, include: Dormitory for the State Women's College at Valdosta, grant of $27,000 to 100 students.

Dormitory for the State Agricultural College at Tifton, grant of $22,000 to 100 students.

Dormitory for the South Georgia College at Statesboro, grant of $38,200, 100 students.

Dormitory for the Georgia State College at Milledgeville, grant of $33,100, 80 students.

Gymnasium and swimming pool for the South Georgia State College at Douglas, a grant of $13,500.

Dormitory for the North Georgia College at Dahlonega, grant of $22,300 to 100 students.

Auditorium for the Georgia School of Technology at Atlanta, grant of $41,850.

Dormitory for the West Georgia College at Carrollton, a grant of $15,750, 50 students.

INDUSTRIAL BODY ASKS
REGULATION OF WAGES

WASHINGTON, March 18.—(AP)—Equal representation of labor and industry on a federal commission to regulate hours and wage reductions since the end of NRA was creating "unfair competition, unemployment and low consuming power."

As a remedy, the council urged enactment of legislation to set up a commission to fix maximum hours and wages, with its power based upon the commerce clause.

The report was one of seven recommending means the council thought would speed industrial recovery.

CHAPLIN, PAULETTE
ARRIVE IN SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, March 18.—(AP)—Charles Chaplin arrived here from Shanghai today with his leading lady, Paulette Goddard, and announced that he intended to "hang about this part of the world for three months," strengthening a belief that this time might be spent on a honeymoon.

He and Miss Goddard talked freely about their far eastern holiday, but neither would confirm or deny reports that they planned to marry here after disembarking from the steamer Suwa Maru.

MRS. R. HANKINSON IS NAMED BY CLUB

McDonough Woman Succeeds Mrs. Charles Byrd as Democratic Club Officer.

Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, of McDonough, was elected first vice president of the Georgia Woman's Democratic Club at a meeting held recently at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Mrs. Hankinson succeeds Mrs. Charles P. Byrd, who has resigned.

A resolution commending the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association for giving employees time off in which to vote in the March 11 Fulton county primary was passed by the executive board of the club.

Plans were announced at the meeting for a luncheon honoring the memory of Thomas Jefferson to be held on April 10. Speakers will pay tribute to the democratic leader and will explain the meaning of the term "democracy," according to Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, president of the club.

MUMMIFIED LEG INHERITED. Mrs. Melaid Mattfeld, of San Francisco, inherited the somewhat embarrassing legacy of the mummified leg of an Egyptian lady. She has solved the problem by donating it to the Anthropology museum of the University of California.

YALE STUDENT AN ALDERMAN. A Yale student has been elected to the New Haven, Conn., board of aldermen. He is John G. Tilton Jr., Yale law student, who successfully carried the republican banner into a normally democratic ward by dint of an intensive campaign.

In Memoriam. In memory of our dear sister, Jenny Hudson, who left us one year ago today.
